FLORIDA MAN PAYS $10,000 RANSOM FOR KIDNAPED SON

Grocer Drives Over Routes Given in Note, Tosses Money From Auto When Hailed From Roadside.

'ONLY MATTER OF WAITING,' HE SAYS

Fear Grow, However, When Hours Pass Without Return of Boy, 5, Stolen Saturday Night.

By the Associated Press.
PRINCETON, Fla., May 31.—A packet of $10,000 in small bills was dropped on a country road today in an effort to ransom a 5-year-old James Bailey Cash Jr. from kidnappers who seized him while he slept Saturday night.

The boy's father, who keeps a general store and filling station in this farming community, tossed the currency from his automobile on a drive before dawn, after seeing blinking headlights and hearing a hail from the side of the road—signals specified in a ransom note.

He returned in high hopes of regaining his son by noon, but as the hour passed apparently without a sign from the abductors, fear for the child's safety increased. The mother was reported to be prostrate.

A crowd of some 300 persons, mostly truck farmers and citrus growers, gathered outside the frame two-story Cash apartment building and filling station on the main highway and discussed forming parties to search the region.

Federal Agents Stand Aside.
W. P. Cash, uncle of the boy, expressed the belief the kidnaper was a resident of Princeton. Two ransom notes contained maps reflecting an intimate knowledge of the countryside, he said. They were drawn to direct the father in delivering the ransom.

Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation withdrew from the scene along with Sheriff's deputies and the local police. All declined to discuss their strategy.

The child was stolen from his bed when his mother went next door to help her husband load the grocery for the night. The kidnaper slit a screen, unlatched the back door and took the pajama-clad boy. It was learned the maps provided by the kidnappers showed two routes. Cash made a circuit of one route—the Northern one, he said—and returned home within 10 minutes. Then he drove away again and on his return issued his statement.

The ransom money was obtained from a Miami bank Sunday.

A note, one of three in the case, threatened death to the boy, known in the neighborhood as "Stogie," if the father called authorities but Cash notified the Federal Bureau of Investigation at Miami, 25 miles north of here, and a squad of inspectors flew here Sunday.

Early today, while Federal men worked on the case and throngs of curious milled about in this growing village of 600, a man presumed to be the abductor slipped the third note under the door of the Cash apartment, tossed a rock at a window to attract attention and fled into the underbrush.

The message, printed on a triangular piece of brown wrapping paper, ordered Cash again to follow directions given in an earlier note—to drive over a route specified on a map, blinking the headlights of his car at certain spots in rain last night, but the new message was understood to have complained that too many persons were about.

Delivery of Other Notes.
The first note had been found pinned to the door at the home of W. P. Cash, next door to the child's home. The second note was given to a Negro to deliver to James Cash. It directed attention to the Cash. It directed attention to the Cash. It directed attention to the Cash.

A State Road Department watchman provided a crew with a report that a green sedan traveling west at break-neck speed was forced by construction work on the road to slow up as it passed his station on an east-west highway, a mile and a half north of here shortly after the boy was missing.

The watchman saw several men and a small child who was crying loudly.

Cash, 38 years old, a merchant and filling station owner, has lived here with his wife for the last five years. He owns a grocery and two filling stations as well as the building from which the boy was stolen. This is a large frame structure containing six apartments with a filling station and lunch room in front on the main highway between Miami and Key West.

MOONEY PETITION LAID OVER TILL FALL BY SUPREME COURT

Action Delayed in Order to Give Time to Examine Voluminous Record Submitted.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 31.—The Supreme Court announced today that it had postponed until next fall action on a petition filed by Thomas J. Mooney, seeking freedom from San Quentin Penitentiary, where he is serving a life sentence for complicity in the 1916 Preparedness day parade bombing in San Francisco.

Charles Elmore Copley, Clerk of the Court, said there was no ruling today for the reason that the court, at the request of petitioners, has consented to consider the application on the unprinted record which comprises over 15,000 typewritten pages and over 600 exhibits.

"This will require a considerable length of time," Copley said.

The court adjourned today until October.

Through attorneys, Mooney requested he be convicted by perjured testimony.

J. A. REED ASKS JUDGE OTIS TO STEP ASIDE IN LABOR CASE

Dissenter on Donnelly Garment Injunction Willing to Let Him Sit for Him.

By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 31.—James A. Reed, former United States Senator, asked Federal Judge Merrill E. Otis today to step aside in further court litigation over labor disputes involving the Donnelly Garment Co., founded by Reed's wife.

Reed pointed out that when a three-judge court granted an injunction to the garment company against the International Ladies Garment Workers' Union, Judge Otis was the dissenter and appeared to hold "some preconceived ideas."

Judge Otis, agreeing to step aside if Judge John Caskie Collet in the same court can sit for him, said: "I may have certain preconceived social theories but they are against the defendant and for the Donnelly Company. Yet my legal opinion is on the side of the union and that was the basis of my dissent in the case."

FIRST GRADUATION AT TEXAS SCHOOL SINCE GAS EXPLOSION

34 Get Diplomas at New Building in Old Fields, Where 294 Were Killed Last Year.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Tex., May 31.—This East Texas oil community which lost 294 persons in a gas explosion last year, graduated 34 seniors last night in its new $400,000 school building. On March 18, 1937, the old building was wrecked by the explosion. Of those dead, 25 were members of this year's graduating class. The school annual carried on one page the brief statement: In loving memory of those who were taken from us March 18, 1937.

The only gas in the new building is in the science laboratories. The heating unit for the steam radiators is in a separate building and the first floor rests on compact earth, so there is no place for accumulation of gas.

FACES 9 MONTHS FOR PAINTING PLYMOUTH ROCK RED AS LARK

Massachusetts Construction Foreman Found Guilty of Smearing Historic Object.

PLYMOUTH, Mass., May 31.—The Associated Press.
Stanley E. Bakewell, construction foreman of Gibeon, Pa., whose counsel pleaded it was "only a lark," was convicted today of painting historic Plymouth Rock, and faced a nine-month sentence in the House of Correction.

After finding Bakewell guilty of smearing the rock with red paint, May 8, Judge Elmer L. Briggs said he would pronounce the sentence tomorrow.

THIRD FLORIDA FLOGGING TRIAL GETS UNDER WAY

Five Former Tampa Police-men in Court, Before a New Judge, Charged With Kidnaping.

MAY BE THE LAST HEARING IN CASE

Defendants Were Acquitted Last Year by Directed Verdict of Second Degree Murder Charge.

By SPENCER H. McCULLOCH, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

BARTOW, Fla., May 31.—The third Florida flogging trial got under way today under a braker judicial procedure and a more clearly defined legal issue than has marked previous trials, one of which resulted in a conviction which was overruled by the State Supreme Court and the other in a directed verdict of acquittal.

On trial today were five former Tampa policemen, all acknowledged members of a warrantless raiding squad which invaded a private home there the night of Nov. 30, 1935, and seized leaders of the "Modern Democrats," a coalition political organization formed primarily to combat corrupt municipal elections.

Taken to police headquarters, they were questioned aimlessly "about Communism" and permitted to leave the building. Three, however, Joseph E. Shoemaker, a former New England manufacturer; Samuel J. Rogers, once a rural physician; and Eugene F. Poulin, leader of "unemployment demonstrations" such as are familiar to St. Louisans, were guided or forced into automobiles seized by police.

Reaching the outskirts of the city, the three were transferred to, awaiting them in other cars, taken to an isolated rural spot, flogged, tarred and feathered, Shoemaker dying of his injuries. The case, which attracted nationwide attention after conditions in Tampa "ad been detailed in the Post-Dispatch three months after the crime, now has reached apparently its final stage.

Previous Conviction Reversed.
The defendants in this trial were convicted a year ago of the kidnapping of Poulin and sentenced to four years' imprisonment. But the State Supreme Court reversed the conviction, primarily on the technical ground that evidence pertaining to conspiracy to kidnap Poulin was not permitted to go before the jury after Judge Robert T. Dewell had quashed that charge. The trial, which occupied more than six weeks, was marked by delays and much legal wrangling.

The five policemen, together with Arlie Gilliam, former Orlando official of the Ku Klux Klan, were placed on trial last October on a second-degree murder charge in the death of Shoemaker. Judge Dewell, who had presided at the previous trial, terminated the case by directing a verdict of acquittal. He held, in effect, that the warrantless raid on the private home should not be admitted as evidence. The jurors were placed in the position of entering in time to view the last act of a drama but in ignorance of what had gone before. All the evidence remaining to them was the induction of the victims into cars outside of police headquarters. How they came to be there and precisely how they forced them into the machines remained vague.

Prior to the present case the prosecution made an effort to disqualify Judge Dewell. At first he resisted their motion, but finally withdrew. The Supreme Court upheld his right to do so, in the face of a defense attempt to have the judge removed on the ground that he had been prejudiced by the publicity of the case.

The court's ruling, incidentally, directed attention to extraneous political issues which were injected into the original trial.

New Judge Expedited Hearing.
After Judge Dewell, who is from Haines City, finally withdrew, Gov. Clegg designated Judge John A. Moore of West Palm Beach, now serving his second unopposed four-year term, to hear the case.

Judge Moore has expedited proceedings. Even yesterday, when a six-man jury was selected at dusk after most of 105 veniremen had been questioned, he evidenced a blarneying unprecedented in the flogging trials. Loath to declare an extended luncheon recess, he observed he would "break many customs" when one of the prosecuting attorneys reminded him of the accusatorial interim.

Instead of hearing hours of argument which have marked previous

SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS NLRB ON REPUBLIC STEEL

Reverses Circuit Decision; Declares Board May Withdraw Case Before Transcript Is Filed.

JUSTICE ROBERTS GIVES THE RULING

Justices Butler and McReynolds Dissent While Justices Stone and Cardozo Do Not Participate.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—The Supreme Court ruled today that the National Labor Relations Board may withdraw from the third Circuit Court of Appeals at Philadelphia litigation involving an N. L. R. B. order to the Republic Steel Corporation to reinstate 5000 striking employees. It was the final session of this term of the court.

Justice Roberts delivered the opinion that reversed a decision of the Circuit Judges refusing the Labor Board permission to withdraw and directing the board to proceed by filing a transcript of its record. Justice Butler and McReynolds dissented. Justices Stone and Cardozo do not participate.

"The Circuit Court," Justice Roberts said, "was without jurisdiction of the subject matter. If the board had complied with the orders made, a hearing would have resulted respecting the legality of supposed action of the board which was not in law or fact the final action, review of which the statute provides."

"No adequate remedy would be open to the Board by way of certiorari from the court's ultimate review of an order which board was authorized and desired to set aside."

What the Act Provides.
The majority ruled that proceedings of the N. L. R. B. were administrative in character and that its final action was subject to judicial review.

The act, the court said, "in plain terms, invests the board with authority, at any time before the transcript shall have been filed in court, to modify or set aside its order in whole or in part. The purpose of the provision obviously is to afford an opportunity to correct errors or to consider new evidence which would render the order inadequate or unjust."

"Since the statute empowers the board, before the filing of a transcript (of its proceedings), the decision continued, 'to vacate or modify its orders, certainly it does not confer jurisdiction upon the reviewing court to prohibit the exercise of the granted power.'"

"It is obvious that Congress intended to confer no jurisdiction upon the reviewing court to prevent the board from seasonably vacating, or modifying, its order so as to make it comport with right and justice."

Purposes of the Act.
"The act plainly indicates that the purpose was to give the court full and exclusive jurisdiction to review the board's order in the respects indicated by the act once the transcript of the board's proceedings is before it. It is equally plain the court is to have no power to prevent the board from vacating or modifying its order prior to such plenary submission of the case."

"Council for Republic urges that the board's petition to this court indicate that it does not intend irrevocably to abandon its order, but merely to regularize it and re-enter it after regularization and that the act gives no power to do this after the board has heard the case and issued an order."

"We have no occasion to speculate upon the future proceedings before the board. It is enough that the petition for review is based on the act of the court. What the legal effect of its future proceedings may be we need not decide."

Officially studied the Supreme Court's decision to determine whether it would apply also to the Labor Board's effort to withdraw from the Circuit Court at Covington, Ky., litigation involving the Ford Motor Co. It then case the N. L. R. B. had filed a transcript.

Immediately after the decision today, the board gave notice it would renew its attempt to reopen the Ford case. Robert Watts, acting general counsel for the board, filed with the Circuit Court at Covington a long list of objections to a Ford petition to take depositions from N. L. R. B. members and employees. He contended the Ford petition was "going behind the record."

MRS. ABE SLUPSKY IS MYSTERIOUSLY SHOT AT HER DOOR

Wounded in Thigh and Abdomen by Bullet Fired at Range Close Enough for Powder Burns.

SHE TELLS POLICE SHE SAW NO ONE

Her Eyesight Not Good — Three Checks Made Out to Her but Not Indorsed Found on Porch.

By the Associated Press.

Mrs. Caroline Slupsky, 67 years old, widow of "Col." Abe Slupsky, was mysteriously shot and seriously wounded at the front door of her home, 3302 Lindell boulevard, at 11:15 a. m. today. A bullet, fired at such close range as to cause powder burns, entered her left hip and went out through the right side of the abdomen. She was taken to Jewish Hospital, and a blood transfusion was given.

Telephone wires into the house were cut before the shooting, which occurred when Mrs. Slupsky opened the front door. Her daughter, Mrs. Edna Duke, who was in the rear of the house, heard a scream, then a shot, and going to the hallway, found Mrs. Slupsky lying almost prostrate before the open door.

"Don't go near the door; somebody hit me," the mother said to Mrs. Duke. She then asked her to "tell George to go around to the rear," George being a plumber who was expected to call at the house.

Mrs. Slupsky, whose sight and hearing are impaired, told police later that she saw no one on the porch, and that she first thought, when she heard the shot and felt the wound, that a bomb had been thrown. Her daughter could not recall what she went to the door, as the daughter did not hear the door-bell ring.

Three checks made out to Mrs. Slupsky, and not yet indorsed by her, for a total of $375, were found on the porch. It was learned that she had received the checks last evening from her son, Edward Slupsky, co-founder of her husband's estate, and that they had been in her hand on the front radiator. It was not learned whether any cash was taken from the bag, but Mrs. Duke said it contained only a little money, if any.

An intruder got into the house several weeks ago, and was pursued across the street by Mrs. Duke, who later described him to police. A man fitting the description was arrested, but Mrs. Duke failed to go to a police station to view him, and he was released. He had attempted, while in the house, to open a safe known as the first floor. A son, Morris Slupsky, said the safe contained nothing of value, and had since been left open.

"Col." Slupsky, a picturesque character best known to the public as a politician and lobbyist, died in October, 1936. He left an estate inventoried at $149,311, in trust with a son, Edward Slupsky, and the St. Louis Union Trust Co. for the benefit of Mrs. Slupsky, with their five children, or their heirs, as ultimate beneficiaries.

P. J. Damos, Teller Police He Was on Way to Bank With Receipts When Robbed.

Peter J. Damos, restaurant proprietor at 803 North Ninth street, reported to police that he was held up and robbed of $800 in a doorway at 509 North Ninth, just north of his place of business, at 9:30 o'clock this morning.

Damos said he set out to take $768, receipts of the restaurant and two affiliated restaurants to the Industrial Bank, Ninth street and Washington avenue. He had no weapon and no guard.

When he left the restaurant, he said, a young man on the sidewalk met him, displaying an automatic pistol, and ordered him into the adjacent doorway, which is the rear entrance of the Hallberg & Grimm furniture store. He was ordered to put up his hands, he said, and the young man went through his pockets, taking the restaurant money, which was in a bankbook in his inside coat pocket, and his wallet containing $23, which was in a trousers pocket. He said he was told to remain standing with his face to the wall, and he was still in that position when an official of the furniture company, seeing him, called to him, asking what was the matter. He was unable to tell which way the young man went.

VICTIMS MOSTLY WOMEN AND CHILDREN IN MARKET SQUARE

55 Persons Die at One Spot, 50 in Heap at Another, at Granollers, 16 Miles From Temporary Capital.

By the Associated Press.
BARCELONA, May 31.—At least 430 persons were killed today in an insurgent air raid on the town of Granollers, 16 miles north of Barcelona. That many bodies were taken from the ruins and authorities believed 100 more still were buried.

Forty bombs were dropped by five tri-motored bombers, 13 of them plunging into the market square at its most crowded hour.

Early reports indicated most of the victims were women and children.

Other bombs fell in Granollers' potato distribution district.

The entire Red Cross service of the district has been mobilized.

Women Doing Marketing.

The raiders arrived at 9 a. m. and took only a few minutes to dump their cargo of bombs. Many women were doing their marketing. Long queues of men, women and children were waiting to get potatoes.

At one spot 55 persons were killed. At another 50 died. Approximately 25 buildings were destroyed.

Granollers, center of a rich potato growing district, had a normal population of 10,000, but this had been swollen by refugees from the war areas of Government Spain.

The nearest hospital soon was overflowing, and as wounded were brought in they were sent on to Barcelona or nearby villages.

At Granollers the morgue was too small, and relief squads had to deal along the walls of the cemetery. There the ratio was five women or children to every man killed.

Wounded Walk 8 Miles.

More than 100 wounded who were able to travel made their way to the hospital at La Garriga, eight miles away. The roads leading out of Granollers were jammed with old men, women and children fleeing from the town with a few belongings.

The Defense Ministry said the planes, described as Junkers (German made), apparently had tried to reach Barcelona, but were forced off by this city's defense against aircraft.

Barcelona had three air raid alarms, but was not bombed, although planes flew over the city in the afternoon. Bombs fell on some surrounding villages, where several persons were injured.

Valencia Suburbs Bombed as Franco Starts General Advance to Sea.

HENDAYE, France, (at the Spanish Frontier) May 31.—Insurgent planes dropped bombs on Valencia today in a combined land and air offensive against the former provisional capital of the Spanish Government.

Reports to the frontier said the insurgent bombers first appeared over the Mediterranean port city last night and continued their attack until early this morning.

The suburbs of Giron and Osona also were bombed.

Sagunto, on the important eastern seaboard highway between Valencia and Barcelona, suffered one of the worst bombardments of the war. More than 500 it was reported, alone

HANKOW, May 31.—Fifty Chinese planes met a raiding Japanese air squadron near Hankow today and in spectacular combat prevented the invaders from reaching the city.

Chinese air headquarters reported that 15 of 36 Japanese planes were shot down while only one Chinese plane failed to return safely to its base.

Part of the combat could be seen from Hankow rooftops. Six Chinese planes were engaged with four Japanese. One Chinese plane crashed after the pilot had leaped with his parachute. A second Chinese plane was forced to land successfully on a nearby airfield. A third plane, too distant to be identified, fell smoking. The Japanese gave up the fight and withdrew.

Hankow and Canton Heavily Bombed in Air Raids.

By the Associated Press.
SIANGHAI, May 31.—Japan's air force struck heavily today at Hankow, provisional Chinese capital, and at Canton, southern metropolis.

Thirty planes attacked Hankow. Japanese accounts said they shot down 18 Chinese planes in dog-fights over and near the city. The Hankow airfield was heavily bombed. Japanese admitted one of their own planes was missing.

It was the first big raid on Hankow since that of Emperor Hirohito's birthday, April 29, in which more than 50 Chinese and Japanese planes fought a half-hour's indecisive battle.

Hongkong dispatches said the Japanese spread their air attacks over a wide area around Canton, raiding many towns in Central and Northern Kwangtung Province.

Refugees, including some American and other foreign women and children, poured into British Hongkong for safety. Hongkong officials estimated the colony had received 24,000 refugees since Saturday.

Japanese Reported Trapped.
Chinese said today that large numbers of Japanese were trapped in a 21-mile square segment of the 200-mile Central China front, from which the Japanese hope at a strategic moment to attempt a general offensive on Hankow.

The division commanded by Lieutenant-General Kenji Doihara, Japan's "Lawrence of Manchuria," was among those now encircled, the Chinese said, and there seemed little chance for escape.

Doihara's troops and others under siege were in the bitterly contested region about Lanfeng, on the Lunghai Railway. They have been trying to press westward through Lanfeng, 73 miles to Chengchow, and from there turn southward for a 300-mile push to Hankow.

Should these units among the 400,000 men estimated to compose the Japanese army on the central front reach Chengchow, they would be able with their compatriots to make a concerted drive toward Hankow.

Chinese acknowledged that steady bombing by Japanese planes hampered their counter-offensives to make such a drive impossible, but insisted they were in control about Lanfeng.

China has an estimated force of 1,000,000 men along the crescent-shaped front extending northwest from Wuhu on the Yangtze River through Anhui Province to Lanfeng.

Capture of Fohsien Disputed.
Japanese claimed capture of Fohsien, 40 miles south of the Lunghai and a central point on the front, but Chinese denied this. Four thousand Japanese, with 38 field pieces and 20 tanks, still were storming.

There was fighting in the streets of Hotel, on the Japanese left wing 65 miles northwest of Wuhu, and Japanese there were reported blocked in their efforts to occupy the city.

Japanese naval planes aided the offensive in raids against Chinese airbases over a wide area. Twenty bombs struck the airfield at Fochow alone.
A Japanese naval officer said today that there had been no change in the Japanese policy of "bombing only military objectives," and that "at Canton we are bombing military depots and Government centers. It is regrettable if civilians are killed and injured, but they were warned as far back as last August to evacuate the vicinity of military objectives. That warning now is repeated."

REBEL BOMBS KILL
430, MOSTLY WOMEN, CHILDREN, IN SPAIN

Jan. 1. No casualties were reported, but the stricken town is now almost leveled.

To the northwest of Valencia, insurgent Generalissimo Franco's motorized columns fought their way down the highway from Teruel. Other columns struck over the mountains north of the highway in a general advance, all along the front from Teruel to the sea. Gen. Jose Vazquez's Castilian division made the farthest southern march, capturing Mora de Rubielos, 20 miles east southeast of Teruel, the next to the last line of Government defenses dominating the Teruel-Mediterranean highway.

Government brigades were reported falling back both to the right, left and center of the line. Network of Roads Captured.
By taking Mora de Rubielos the insurgents gained domination of a strategic communications center and a network of roads connecting with the main Teruel-Segura-Valencia highway, eight miles to the south.

The insurgent offensive came quickly after one of their cavalry units was defeated by a small Government force on the south side of the highway at La Clavella Hill, 15 miles southeast of Teruel, and 55 miles northwest of Valencia.

"Our troops entered Mora de Rubielos late today," the attacking commanders reported. "Our general advance sent the enemy fleeing in disorder, abandoning a large number of bodies and quantities of ammunition."

The insurgent cavalry unit was approaching the Teruel-to-coast highway from the south of La Clavella Hill when it ran into a withering Government fire which inflicted heavy casualties.

The insurgents acknowledged this setback, but reported Government troops later fell back all along the front from Teruel to Albuera, 40 miles north northeast of Valencia. Insurgent field reports said the advancing army broke through Government defense at Villafraanca Del Cid, 15 miles west of Albuera, and pushed on to take the Village of Benasal, midway between the two points.

Intermittent shelling of Madrid was continued late yesterday, rounding off nearly 24 hours of an artillery attack which reached its peak at dawn. Casualties were not reported.

Another British Ship Sunk by Insurgent Planes.
MADRID, May 31.—The British freighter Pentames was bombed and sunk in an air raid on Valencia harbor this morning. No lives were lost. The Pentames was hit by three bombs and settled to the bottom at Caballeros Dock, with her masts and funnels still showing.

A Spanish vessel also was sunk. Air raid alarms kept the harbor district in a state of tension from 11 p. m. last night until after daybreak.

VIENNA, May 31.—German officials declared today that Austria's fallen Chancellor, Kurt Schuschnigg, was "still somewhere in Vienna and in excellent health."

Requests for permission to see Schuschnigg were refused with: "That's impossible."
Officials admitted Schuschnigg was no longer in Belvedere Castle, his home until last Saturday.

Plans to issue an official statement about what would be done with the ex-Chancellor were dropped by officials on the ground that the "case is not sufficiently important."

An authentic source said that the case would be further investigated, but that Schuschnigg was not held as a common prisoner. Schuschnigg was said to be held in what the Germans call "ehrenhaft," under police supervision, but permitted a certain amount of freedom.

Countess Vera Fugger von Babenhausen, Schuschnigg's fiancée, was said to be held in the same place, but under less strict supervision, supervised the packing of the furniture at Belvedere Palace.

The Countess, in a dark blue dress, became very agitated when the correspondent addressed her. "Please go," she pleaded. "I am not permitted to talk."

TWO IN AUTO HURT IN CRASH WITH LOADED POULTRY TRUCK

Several Hundred Chickens Killed or Injured in Collision at U. S. 66 and Bellefontaine Road.
Mrs. Ruth Mieshofer, 1214 Hodiamont avenue, and Frank King, of Chambers and Halls Ferry roads, Baden Station, were seriously injured early yesterday when an automobile in which they were riding collided head-on with a truck loaded with poultry on United States Highway 66 and Bellefontaine road.

Both were taken to Christian Hospital. Mrs. Mieshofer suffered fractures of the left leg, right arm and ribs and internal injuries. King suffered a skull injury. Both the truck and the car overturned. The truck, driven by Martin C. Holt, Springfield, Ark., carried 1750 chickens in 70 crates. Several hundred of the fowl were killed or injured.

The court affirmed a ruling by the three-judge District Court in Colorado dismissing the litigation and ordering the stockyard company to refund to its customers the difference between the higher amount collected and the charges specified in the order.

The reduced rates were not put into effect pending disposition of the litigation.

New orders were ordered after the Secretary of Agriculture decided that the proper valuation of the stockyard was $2,782,681 on which it was entitled to earn 6 1/2 per cent. The stockyard contended the valuation should have been $4,000,000 and the lower figure amounted to "confiscation."

Justice Butler announced no dissent. Justice Black concurred in the result. Justice Cardozo did not participate.

Withdrawal of the Republic Steel litigation, in order to adopt new procedure, was decided on April 23 had been followed by Wallace in ordering a reduction of rates that commission men on the Kansas City stockyards could charge. The board wished to adopt new procedure to meet possible Supreme Court objections.

Opposing Contentions.
Both Republic Steel and the Ford Motor Co. complained that the N L R B, before issuing its orders, had not given them trial examiner's reports and permitted them to reply. They contended this had prejudiced their rights and denied them a fair hearing.

The board contended the Labor Relations Act empowered it to withdraw litigation any time before a transcript was filed. It asked the Supreme Court for a writ of mandamus directing the Circuit Court to take the requested action.

JUSTICE HUGHES
SAYS COURT DID NOT REVERSE SELF

Declares Decision in Kansas City Stockyard Rate Case Was Consistent With Earlier Ones.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 31.—Chief Justice Hughes held today, in a vigorously worded decision, that administration contentions the Supreme Court had reversed itself in the Kansas City stockyards case were "unwarranted" and "wholly unfounded."

Far from reversing itself, the Chief Justice said in an opinion delivered just before the court adjourned for the summer, the court's decisions had been thoroughly consistent with previous rulings.

Both Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and Solicitor-General Robert H. Jackson had contended that the court, in an April 25 decision, had held "fatally defective" procedure which it had not objected to two years earlier. On the basis of this contention a rehearing was sought.

In denying this request, Chief Justice Hughes replied, in effect, that the court must insist that Government agencies give full and adequate hearings in quasi-judicial proceedings.

Relating that the Government had contended "that the court has reversed itself," the present decision is "directly contrary to the law of the case" as established by the court's decision on the former appeal; and that "a procedural omission" previously held to be of no significance "is now regarded as 'fatally defective,'" Justice Hughes said.

"These assertions are unwarranted. Not only are the two decisions consistent, but the rule announced in our former opinion was applied and was decisive of the present appeal. And the Government is in no position to claim surprise."

"The question whether there had been a fair hearing in the present case, in the light of the situation disclosed by the Secretary's testimony and the other evidence, was fully argued at the bar. . . .

"The statement made in the petition for rehearing that the present decision is contrary to the law of the case as declared in our first opinion is wholly unfounded. Our decision was 'not rested upon the absence of an ex-dine's report.' . . .

"So far from departing from our former opinion, or from the statement that the mere matter of the presence, or absence, of an examiner's report was not itself determinative, we reiterated both that statement and the principle underlying it in our opinion on the present appeal. . . .

"The effort to establish a case for rehearing, either because of an asserted inconsistency in our rulings, or because of lack of opportunity for full argument, is futile."

Justices Cardozo and Reed did not participate in the opinion. The court also refused to reconsider its recent action declining to review a challenge by Remington Rand, Inc., of a Labor Board order directing it to reinstate 4000 striking employees. An appeal by the Central Executive Council of Remington-Rand Employees' Association, challenging the board order, also was turned down.

Denver Stockyards Rate Order Procedure Wins Court Approval.
The Supreme Court approved today an order issued by Harry L. Brown, acting Secretary of Agriculture on Feb. 17, 1937, fixing maximum rates to be charged by the Denver Union Stockyard Co.

In a decision by Justice Butler, the three-judge District Court in Colorado dismissing the litigation and ordering the stockyard company to refund to its customers the difference between the higher amount collected and the charges specified in the order.

The reduced rates were not put into effect pending disposition of the litigation.

New orders were ordered after the Secretary of Agriculture decided that the proper valuation of the stockyard was $2,782,681 on which it was entitled to earn 6 1/2 per cent. The stockyard contended the valuation should have been $4,000,000 and the lower figure amounted to "confiscation."

The litigation grew out of the purchase by General Talking Pictures of vacuum tube amplifiers from the American Transformer Co., which had a license agreement with the "patent pool." Members of the "pool" were listed as Western Electric, Electrical Research Products, Inc., and American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

TAX ON CITY EMPLOYEES FROM OUT OF NEW YORK

This Is Proposed in Bill Being Prepared to Increase Revenue for Relief.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, May 31.—Preparation of a bill imposing a special municipal tax on all city employees who are not residents of New York City is under consideration by James J. Lyons, borough president of Bronx County and the Assistant Corporation Counsel, it was learned here yesterday.

This information came to light in a letter written by Lyons to the City Council which suggested that such a tax would stop the "leak" in the city tax collections, mentioned recently by the Mayor. The conference to draft such a bill, now under way, was said to have been suggested by Mayor LaGuardia.

"Taxes imposed to relieve the distress of those suffering from unemployment do not affect non-resident city employees, whose salaries paid by the city are estimated to total about $5,000,000," Lyons wrote. "Some of the non-resident city employees have been granted extensions of time within which to move into the city and others are permitted to definitely evade the local law."

"These non-resident city employees do not pay any tax on gas, electric or telephone service. They evade the sales tax by having any purchases made in the city delivered to their residences outside the city. They are little, if any, affected by the tax on meals and liquor, as most of their eating and drinking is indulged in outside the city."

"They avoid the cigarette tax by purchasing their cigarettes in the places they reside and aid others to avoid this tax by bringing into the city to their friends cigarettes upon which no city tax is collected. On the whole, they completely shirk any responsibility to our good, deserving but less fortunate citizens on the relief rolls."

Lyons said he had discussed this situation with the Mayor and that the latter had indicated he would approve deduction of 2 1/2 or 3 per cent of the salaries of non-resident city employees.

FUNERAL OF YOUTH, 16,

Body Identified as That of Robert C. Dreyer, Missing Since May 22.

The funeral of Robert C. Services will be at St. Mary and Joseph's Catholic Church and burial in Mount Olive Cemetery.

Dreyer, 16 years old, the son of Mrs. Margaret Dreyer, 6108A Virginia avenue, had been missing since the morning of May 22. That afternoon three men, standing on the river bank at Kraus street, saw a man or youth struggling in the stream and heard his cries for help. Before they could reach him in a boat he drowned. Police surmised from descriptions that this may have been Dreyer.

His body was found by a resident of the river bank and identified by his mother.

JAPANESE NEWSPAPERMAN SPEAKS AT GRANITE CITY

Tells Rotary Club Members His Nation Has No Intention of Shutting Off U. S. Trade.

M. T. Yamamoto, correspondent of the Japan Times & Mail, Tokyo, spoke today to the Granite City Rotary Club, at luncheon in the Y. M. C. A., on "American-Japanese Relations." Of the present Oriental situation he said:

"While you Americans believe we are an aggressor nation, we Japanese believe that we are forced to fight for our own peaceful existence, and for establishment of a brighter, happier and safer Far East, free from the influence of Communism. . . . Japan is a constitutional monarchy, not a Fascist nation; she has a parliamentary government and a capitalist system, and is determined to maintain and improve them."

The speaker emphasized the importance to both nations of the trade relations between the United States and Japan. He said that Japan, while "determined to maintain her position on the Asiatic mainland," does not intend to close the doors of the Far East to Western nations.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 31.—Liens totaling $218,451.61 against all the property of Walter E. O'Hara, former publisher and race track head, were filed today by Collector of Internal Revenue Joseph V. Broderick for unpaid 1935 and 1936 income taxes, and what Broderick described as "fraud penalty," and interest.

Broderick said the fraud penalty involved O'Hara's 1935 income tax and amounted to $33,714.13, one-half the amount of an additional assessment of $67,428.25 ordered by Guy T. Halvering, Collector of Internal Revenue at Washington, after investigation by Treasury Department agents.

The liens covered the 1935 additional assessment, the 1936 fraud penalty and interest, and a 1936 additional assessment of $99,249.89, and interest.

AUTO VICTIM IDENTIFIED
AS FEMME OSAGE FARMER

Body of W. E. Nadler Had Previously Been Erroneously Stated to Be That of Indiana Man.

The body of a man who was killed by an automobile early Sunday on the Missouri River highway bridge at St. Charles was identified last night as that of Walter E. Nadler, a farmer, of Femme Osage, St. Charles County.

REORGANIZATION BILL
SHELVED, IT IS SAID

Agreement Reported Reached by President and Leaders in Congress.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 31.—President Roosevelt and congressional leaders have shelved the Government reorganization bill for this session, members of both the House and Senate reported today. They reported this course was agreed on at an early morning conference at the White House as a means of clearing the way for action on pending bills.

Formal disclosure of the plan was expected to be made in statements which Senate Majority Leader Barkley said, on leaving the White House, would be issued "in a day or two, probably tomorrow."

Barkley was said to have reported to President Roosevelt that there was growing opposition to the spending bill because of uncertainty over whether the reorganization controversy would be revived.

A definite statement that the legislation would be discarded for the session, Barkley is said to have advised the President, would end dilatory tactics in the Senate against the spending-lending bill.

KILLED MAN KILLS RIVAL IN FRONT OF WOMAN'S HOME

Frank Glon, Laborer, Tells Police He Shot Harry Lauz When He Reached for Hip Pocket.

OTHERS SAY VICTIM DIDN'T MAKE THREAT

Mrs. Irene Coughlin, Over Whom Fight Started Says
Suitor First Knocked Her Escort Down.

Harry Lauz, a shoemaker, was shot and killed last night by Frank Glon, a laborer, in a row in front of 2718 St. Vincent avenue, the home of Mrs. Irene Coughlin, with whom Glon had lived for five years until their separation six weeks ago.

Glon, 45 years old, declared to the police that he fired on Lauz when the latter, who had been talking with Mrs. Coughlin, reached for his hip pocket. Mrs. Coughlin and two other witnesses to the shooting, however, said that Glon first knocked Lauz down with his fist, then fired on him as he started to get up.

In a written statement to the police, Glon said that several days prior to the shooting he had resisted with Lauz, who was 42, about going with Mrs. Coughlin.
The agreement between the men at that time, he asserted, was that Lauz would not see Mrs. Coughlin until she finally had made up her mind whether she would return to Glon, with whom she had been living at his home at 2314 Blair avenue. Mrs. Coughlin and Glon have a son, 5 years old, who has been living with Mrs. Coughlin at the St. Vincent avenue address.

Glon's Version of Fight.
Glon said that about 7:45 o'clock he went to the St. Vincent avenue address in the hope of effecting a reconciliation with Mrs. Coughlin, who is 25 years old. He was told by her mother, Mrs. Primrose, who lives at that address, that Mrs.
Coughlin was out walking with two men.

A few minutes later, he said, Mrs.
Coughlin arrived at the house with Lauz and the boy, and the two men had angry words.

"Lauz lunged for me and reached for his hip pocket," he said. "I jumped off the front steps and saw his pistol. I walked away in a haze."

Joseph Schulte, 2716 St. Vincent avenue, who witnessed the shooting, followed Glon, and less than a half hour later, in the 2700 block of Park avenue, pointed him out to police.
He was in a scout car, who had begun to look for the killer. Glon surrendered the .25-caliber automatic pistol with which he had shot Lauz.

Others Deny Glon's Story.

Mrs. Coughlin, Mrs. Primrose and Schulte all said in their accounts of the shooting that when Lauz arrived at the house with Mrs. Coughlin, Glon knocked him down and shot him as he started to get up. The bullet struck him in the abdomen and he was dead on arrival at City Hospital.

Mrs. Coughlin told the police she was married eight years, but that her husband left her after six months and she had not seen him since. For several years, she said, he had importuned Glon to marry her, but he had declined to do so, and finally she decided to leave him.

Two weeks ago, she said,
he had told her he was going to sell his shotgun to raise the money for her divorce, but she did not commit herself to marry him.

Lauz resided at 1824A (rear) South Eighth street. A widower, he had two daughters, 13 and 11 years old, who reside with his stepdaughter in Overland.

MAN ARRESTED AS CARELESS DRIVER IDENTIFIED AS FUGITIVE

Police Say He Stole Auto After Breaking Out of Prison Ward

A Negro, who gave a false name when arrested early Sunday at Ringhighway boulevard and Manchester avenue and booked on five traffic charges, was identified by police last night as Lennon Bailey, who had escaped Saturday night from a prison ward in Homer G.
Phillips Hospital. Police said the automobile he was driving, occupied by eight other Negroes, had been stolen Saturday night from Vern Dickerson, 4268 North Market street.

Bailey, arrested after a chase of two miles, was charged with careless driving, failure to keep to the right and to observe a stop sign.
Failure to have a driver's license and driving with his view obstructed. He had been sent to the Workhouse last January under a one-year sentence for burglary, police said, and had been transferred to the hospital last week when he complained of illness.

C. NELSON MANUFACTURING CO. CITED IN N. L. R. B. COMPLAINT

Two Ex-Employees Charge They Lost Jobs in Strike at Refrigerating Equipment Plant.

A complaint charging the C. Nelson Manufacturing Co., 2304 Division street, with unfair labor practices was filed today by the regional office of the National Labor Relations Board and set for hearing next Monday.

Charges were made by Harry Semon and Wylie Parker, two former employees, who said the company refused to reinstate them after a strike last June at the plant, which manufactures ice cream cabinets and refrigerating equipment. They alleged that a company union was organized and that employees were threatened with loss of their jobs if they supported the Carpenters' District Council or the United Association of Steam, Gas and Refrigerator Fitters, Local 662, both A. F. of L. organizations. Neither of the unions is a party to the complaint and at their offices a Post-Dispatch reporter was told they were not interested in pressing it.

It is charged that the company maintained a system of espionage through foremen and told its 82 production department workers they were being observed.

WASHINGTON U. FRESHMAN SHOT ACCIDENTALLY BY FRIEND

John T. Donnell Suffers Superficial Wound in Firing of Pistol
From One to the Other.

John T. Donnell, 19-year-old Washington University freshman, is recovering at his home, 27 Ridge-moor drive, Clayton, of a superficial gunshot wound of the right hip, suffered Sunday night when he was accidentally shot by his friend and classmate, Willard Papendiek, 7070 Washington avenue, University City.

The two were returning home from a friend's home where they had been studying for examinations when they stopped their car on Bonhomme road, between McKnight and Price roads, and started shooting at a mudbank with a target pistol. Donnell was shot as the pistol was being passed from one to the other.

Dr. Thomas G. Donnell, a dentist, father of the boy, said that both boys were equally at fault for the shooting. At St. Louis County Hospital, where he had been taken for treatment, Donnell at first said that he had shot himself and did not mention the Papendiek boy.

of Fred Vanucci of Chicago, was found today on a country road three miles east of Crete. The hands and feet were bound with sash cord. The body was discovered by a farmer, who notified Will County authorities. Five miles from the scene police found Vanucci's automobile, its lights still burning.

Coroner London Brannon of Will County said it was apparent the man had been the victim of gangsters. The Coroner said he thought the victim had been turned out of an automobile and shot as he hobbled away.

Bartender Kills Holdup Man.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, May 31.—A man identified by seaman's papers as George Roberts, 29 years old, of New Orleans, was shot and killed yesterday by the victim of an $8 robbery. Roberts and another man walked into a tavern and bound and gagged Stanley Slowik, 21, the bartender, before rifling the cash register.

After they left, Slowik partly freed himself, seizing a pistol and overtook the pair in the street. Roberts was killed in the scuffle. The other man escaped.

FEW NEW CLEWS ON FINDING BODY OF PETER LEVINE

Father of Kidnaping and Murder Victim Declares That He Is Still as Much in Dark as Ever.

By the Associated Press.
NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., May 31.—Murray Levine declared today he still had no idea of who kidnaped and killed his 12-year-old son, Peter, and said the case henceforth was "entirely in the hands of the police."

The New York lawyer said ransom was the only motive he could advance for the abduction of his boy, whose mutilated body was washed ashore on Long Island Sound Sunday night. The boy disappeared Feb. 24.

"I know no more about the case than you do," Levine told a reporter.
"Unless something new develops, this is the last time I shall talk to you fellows. The matter now is entirely in the hands of the police."

Levine said Mrs. Levine was bearing the shock of her husband's
"as well as could be expected."

He said he had "not yet decided" whether he would pay the $5000 reward he had offered for the recovery of his son's body.

Still Withheld Ransom Notes.
Repeating that the case was in police hands, he declined to release the original ransom notes or to describe the secret signatures he said he knew they were genuine.

He said he was "quite satisfied" with the police conduct of the case.
His attention was directed to the kidnapping of a 5-year-old boy in Princeton, N.J., Saturday night and he was asked if he had any advice for the parents.

"No, I don't know anything about any other kidnapping," he replied,
"and I have no advice to give."

He said he was "not sure" he remained on the sidelines in deference to Levine's hope that he could ransom his son for $30,000 have turned on the full power of their organization in a search for the kidnapers, who apparently killed him a few days after abducting him.

Victim's Organs Examined.
Medical experts pursued their microscopic examination of the murdered boy's organs in the hope of finding some clue, such as a poison trace, in the manner in which he was killed.

For miles around this suburban community, officers explored the countrywide, searched the Long Island Sound shore line, and questioned scores of persons in a hunt for other clues; the possibility of finding missing parts of the body or other clues; tracing the thin wire which bound the body; determining how the body got into the sound.

The Levine boy, 12-year-old son of a New York lawyer, disappeared Feb. 24. His body, lacking head, legs and arms, was washed ashore
in the sound Sunday.

Thinks Crime Was "Local Job."
A high investigating authority offered the theory that the crime was a "local job" for three reasons:
Levine was not prominent in the side the community, and was hardly a person an outside criminal would have selected for an extortion attempt.

2. The placement of ransom notes indicated a detailed knowledge of the community. The first appeared in a vacant house near the Levine home; the second appeared in a vacant lot next to a synagogue, the rabbit of which was approached by the kidnappers as an intermediary; the third note appeared in a vacant lot four blocks away.

3. The condition of the body and the wire indicated it had been submerged with a heavy weight; under the circumstances, the hideout from which it was carried must have been near New Rochelle.

Much of the questioning of shore residents was directed toward finding the boat from which the body presumably was dumped.

Wire Offers No Lead.
The wire seemed a poor clue, because it apparently was common radio aerial wire, of which large quantities are bought with no particular attention being attracted to the buyers.

The first day of the investigation produced no arrests, although there was talk that several persons were under vague suspicion and scrutiny.
Two youths already held as ransom "chiselers" in the case were questioned further to no apparent avail.

The Levine family held brief private funeral services yesterday.
About 35 old friends of the Levines were present at the funeral, during which Mrs. Levine leaned heavily upon her husband's arm. Dr.
Henry Newman, leader of the Brooklyn Ethical Society, delivered the funeral address. There were only two songs, Handel's Largo and Chopin's Funeral March.
There was only a single cluster of flowers. The body was cremated.

OIL MAN SHOT AND KILLED AT ARKANSAS FILLING STATION

Mother of J. D. Flynn Jr. Gets News While Here for Her Brother's Funeral.

By the Associated Press.
LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 31.—
James D. Flynn Jr., 37 years old, district manager in Arkansas and Louisiana for the Arkansas Fuel Oil Co., was shot and killed last night by Deputy Sheriff J. D.
O'Connor at a filling station nine miles west of the city.

O'Connor, who lives near the filling station, said he was called there after Flynn backed his automobile over a water pump, crashed into the station and ran into a ditch.

The officer said Flynn knocked him down twice with a blackjack. He drew his revolver and shot Flynn in the stomach.
O'Connor reported, Flynn died several hours later in a hospital after another deputy sheriff furnished blood for a transfusion.

Flynn's mother, who lives in New Orleans, received word of her son's death at the home of her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Boggy, 1810 Bayard

CLAIM ON HILL REALTY UNDER ADVISEMENT

Judge to Pass Later on Mrs. Coachman's Suit for Share of Sale Price.

The suit of Mrs. Minette K. Hill Coachman to establish dower right of one-third interest in real estate held by her husband, the late Dr. William Preston Hill, was taken under advisement by Circuit Judge William S. Connor at the conclusion of testimony today.

Judge Connor commented from the bench that the evidence left no doubt that Dr. Hill, who died in 1931, had married the plaintiff and that he had sold the real estate as a single man. He added, however, that an important issue was whether Mrs. Coachman had had direct knowledge that her husband transferred the properties as an unmarried person, had rested too long on her rights and so was estopped from prosecuting her claim.

Mrs. Coachman, now wife of Albert Coachman, City Market Master at Soular Market, had testified that the physician carried her in Indiana in 1923 when she was 19 years old and he was 55. Her suit, a proceeding in equity directed against the Bushnell-Pommer Realty Co., involves properties at 3849 1/2 to 3861 1/2 Olive street, valued by her attorney, Harvey E. Cox, at $100,000. She has additional claims against others, involving properties valued by the attorney at $400,000.

Charles D. Long, counsel for the company, took his position it was an innocent purchaser for value after the physician's death, contending that Dr. Hill had represented the plaintiff as his adopted daughter and that if there had been a marriage it was not known publicly.

Some witnesses testified they had known Mrs. Coachman as Dr. Hill's adopted daughter, others that they had known the pair as husband and wife.

JOHN CANTONI'S RESTAURANT
DAMAGED BY A BOMB

Plate Glass Window of Eating House at 933 North Fourth Street Shattered.
The restaurant of John Cantoni, 933 North Fourth street, was damaged by the explosion of a bomb at 2:07 a. m. Sunday.
The bomb, which police said appeared to have been made of black powder, was placed near the entrance. It shattered a plate glass window and a wooden frame, blew a hole a foot deep in the sidewalk and damaged two cigarette vending machines in the restaurant. Small panes of glass in buildings flanking the restaurant were broken. The loss is estimated at $200.
Cantoni, who lives at 7150 Princeton avenue, University City, told police he was unable to account for the attack. Cantoni was one of the five voters who joined in the motion to prevent the opening of the ballot boxes in the $7,500,000 riverfront bond issue election of September, 1935.

The activity against the Kroger chain started May 13 after conferences with Kroger executives failed to obtain work for Negroes in 15 Kroger stores, Williams said. The stores picketed are at 4266 W. Finney avenue, Taylor and Cottage avenues and Easton avenue at Belle Glade avenue.

CAFETERIA MAN OFFERS REWARD

Stephen R. Apted, Operator of Hulling Restaurants, Posts $1000 for Arrest of Attacker.

SHOT NARROWLY
MISSES NIECE, SON

Eating Places Have Been Picketed 11 Months by Waitresses' Union in Organization Dispute.

Stephen R. Apted, restaurant operator, offered $1000 reward today for the arrest and conviction of any person responsible for the attack on his home at 31 Dromara road, Ladue, Sunday night, when one of three shots went through a window casing and narrowly missed his niece, Miss June Plamp, St. Joseph's Academy student, and his 4-year-old son, Stephen John Apted.
Apted and his wife, formerly Miss Florence L. Hulling, own Miss Hulling's Cafeteria at 1103 Locust street and 725 Olive street, where windows have been broken and stench bombs thrown during an 11-month controversy with Local 249 of the Waitresses' Union, affiliated with the A. F. of L.
Miss Plamp, who is 17 years old and resides at the Apted home with her mother, Mrs. Katherine Plamp, manager of the Locust street cafeteria, was seated before a dressing table in a second-floor bedroom at 8 o'clock Sunday night, when she heard an automobile drive to the front of the house. Expecting friends, she rose to go to the window, she told a Post-Dispatch reporter today, when she heard a report which she thought was caused by backfiring of the machine.
Three Shots Fired.
As she approached the window, there was another report and a bullet crashed through the ceiling, striking a picture on the wall and falling to the floor near her cousin. There was a third shot as she ran down the stairs where other members of the family and seven guests were seated in the living room.
Miss Plamp said she could have been seen from an automobile at the front of the house since the room was lighted and shades were not drawn. The first and last bullets fired were not found.
None of the occupants of the house was able to determine how many persons were in the automobile, Apted told the reporter, since they could get only a glimpse of it as it sped west toward McKnight road. Another woman caller, he said, was sitting in an automobile with two children when the shots were fired but paid scant attention to the other machine, thinking fireworks were being discharged.
Apted told the reporter he had no theory with regard to the cause of the attack. He said he had received no threats.
Dispute With Union.
When the Waitresses' Union attempted to organize the 230 cafeteria employees last July, Apted said, only three wished to affiliate. Since then, he added, these three joined others in voting to bargain collectively as an employer's group unaffiliated with the union.
He asserted he had no objection to their affiliation with the union but said he had refused the union's demand that he direct them to do so. Wage rates, he said, were 20 to 40 per cent higher than union scales.
Mrs. Kitty Amaler, financial secretary of the Waitresses' Union, told a Post-Dispatch reporter that no union members were responsible. "Do you think we would be silly enough to do a thing like that?" she went on. "Mr. Apted hasn't got a friend in the world. We still have a majority of girls signed up with the union. At one time we had 72 per cent but we have lost a few."

Man With Skull and Leg Injuries Given 3 Addresses in Neighborhood; All Proved Wrong.
A man, who said he was James Jones, 50-year-old laborer, was struck and injured by an automobile last night at Twelfth street and Park avenue.
At City Hospital, where he was said to be suffering from fractures of the skull and right leg, Jones gave three addresses in the neighborhood of Thirtieth and Hickory streets, none of which was correct, police said.
Patrolman Wilson King reported seeing Jones step from in front of a street car and walk against an automobile driven by Elmer Ferkel, a salesman, 6211 Oregon avenue. He was thrown against the windshield, smashing the glass, and was carried on the hood of the machine for about 30 feet before rolling to the pavement.

THREE DROWNED; GIRL FALLS INTO RIVER FROM BOAT

Miss Muriel Collins, 21, Topples Into Mississippi Near Alton; Rescuer Fails to Save Her.

Three persons were drowned yesterday on holiday outings. They were:

Miss Muriel Collins, 21 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael B. Collins, 5881 Cates avenue.

James Wilkerson, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse A. Wilkerson, 6971 Hunter avenue, Normandy.

Roy M. Moritz, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moritz, 6223 Westerhoff avenue, Pine Lawn.

Miss Collins, who was employed as a cashier at a drug store, lost her life when she fell from a speed boat into the Mississippi River as the boat neared the landing of the Weber Lake Club, six miles north of Alton, at 8:30 p. m.

Seven others, including Miss Collins' sister, Dorothea, were in the speedboat at the time. When the boat was about 90 feet from the Missouri shore, Miss Collins started to climb from the back seat over the motor compartment to the seat in front, when she lost her balance and slipped into the water.

Rescue Attempt Fails.
D. H. Tilley, a member of the party, told a Post-Dispatch reporter that he immediately jumped in to rescue her and after swimming about 100 feet was able to reach her. He started to swim to shore with her, but was soon in distress himself because their wet clothing carried them under several times, and he lost his hold on Miss Collins. Tilley, who resides at Hamilton Hotel, was taken from the water by Edwin and Carl Weber, brothers and owners of the club, who went to his aid in a rowboat.

The party of eight had spent the day at the club, and was returning from a boat ride when the drowning occurred. As Miss Collins started to climb forward, her sister cautioned her to be careful.

The body has not been recovered. Besides her parents and her sister, Miss Collins is survived by two other sisters and two brothers. Her father is an investigator for the Public Service Co.

Two Lost in Big River.

Wilkerson and Moritz were drowned during the afternoon in Big River, below the dam at Byrnes Mill, Jefferson County, when Wilkerson was caught in the swift undercurrent of the swollen stream and Moritz went to his aid.

Joseph Phegley, 7732 Augusta avenue, Normandy, a member of the party of 12 young persons on the outing, told a Post-Dispatch reporter that Wilkerson was caught after swimming close to the dam, over which about three feet of water was flowing. When Wilkerson called for help, Moritz swam towards him and was also caught in the undercurrent.

Other members of the party succeeded in recovering the bodies within a short time and attempted to revive them.

The bodies were turned over to St. Louis undertakers after a verdict of accident was returned at an inquest conducted by Coroner Frank Frasier. The funeral for Moritz will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Schumacher Mortuary, 4834 Natural Bridge avenue.

WARRANT FOR PROMOTER OF GARDEN STAKES FRAUD

T. A. Harkins, Only Man Convicted in Recent Trial, Left Pittsburgh Without Posting Bond.

By the Associated Press.
PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 31.—Government attorneys disclosed today a bench warrant had been issued for Thomas A. Harkins of Pasadena, Cal., promoter of the $25,000 Garden Stakes, who was convicted of fraud and conspiracy.

Harkins left Pittsburgh after his trial, the attorneys said, without posting bond on the charge on which he was convicted. He had posted bond of $3000 on lottery charges of which he was acquitted, they added.

Harkins was the only one of five defendants, including Father James R. Cox of Pittsburgh, convicted in the stakes trial. The charges grew out of the operation of a contest to select a name for the monastery gardens of the priest's church.

TWO KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

Wing Strikes Surface of Lake and Ship Is Demolished.

By the Associated Press.
SHEBOYGAN, Mich., May 31.—An Ohio airplane pilot and a companion died Sunday when their plane crashed in Mullet Lake. The victims were Frank Miller, 23 years old, of Ashland, O., owner and pilot of the plane, and Robert E. Riley, also of Ashland. They had flown to Cheboygan Saturday for the Memorial day holiday. The crash was witnessed by a number of their friends, some from Ohio, who occupied cottages along the lake.

State police who investigated said the plane had come out of a loop close to the water surface. One wing apparently struck the water 200 yards from shore. The plane was demolished by the impact and sank in eight feet of water. The bodies were recovered half an hour later and the wreckage of the plane was towed to shore.

MAN STRUCK BY TRAIN DIES

Fred Schmid, 26, Fatally Injured in Railroad Yards at Venice.

Fred Schmid, 26-year-old chemical worker of 3141 North Eleventh street, died yesterday at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Granite City of a fractured skull and other injuries suffered last Friday afternoon, when he was struck by a Wabash Railroad switch engine in the railroad yards at Venice.

A coroner's verdict of accident was returned yesterday. Pat Crane, the engineer on the train, testified he saw Schmid climb up an embankment on the side of the track and then suddenly hurtle into the path of the train.

CRABB STATEMENT TO SHERIFF IS READ

Court Hears It in Jury's Absence at Banker's Son's Trial for Wife's Death.

By the Associated Press.

PEKIN, Ill., May 31.—The statement of James Warner Crabb that Betty Collison Crabb was killed on the night of March 1 while struggling with him for possession of a pistol was read into the court record by Sheriff Ralph Gear of Tazewell County today, with the jury absent.

Judge Joseph E. Daily listened to the testimony so he might rule on defense objections that young Crabb had not voluntarily confessed the fatal shooting in an upstairs bedroom in the home of his father, Willis Crabb, Delavan (Ill.) banker.

The defense said all evidence so far pointed to suicide, but was overruled on this.

Gear testified James Crabb had told him, T. P. Sullivan, head of the State Criminal Investigation Bureau, an assistant, Tom Piper, and State's Attorney, Reuben Russell, that he had an argument with his father, went into the bedroom, and Betty was shot during the ensuing argument. He testified that Crabb had talked freely and that no promises had been made to him.

The defense finally had the warrant under which James Crabb was arrested introduced into the trial record, and tried to get Gear to admit the arrest was planned after a conference, but Gear said he made "the arrest when he saw fit."

Defense Attorney J. M. Powers hammered at Gear most of the morning, going over each step of the case from the time of James Crabb's arrest until the "confession" was announced that night.

Thomas C. Piper, an investigator for the State Bureau of Criminal Investigation, was the next witness called. The jury was still out.

Piper repeated James Crabb's "confession" in a little more detailed way than had Sheriff Gear.

James sat at the foot of the counsel table, with his face resting on one hand, and stared moodily. Immediately behind, separated by the short railing dividing the courtroom, sat his father, Willis Crabb, and his stepmother, Mrs. Catherine Crabb. Their eyes were on Piper as he quoted James as saying he "was befuddled and feeling pretty cozy." L. Glen Collison, father of Betty Crabb, sat across the aisle about 12 feet from the Crabbs.

"Didn't Sound Reasonable," ... Piper, cross-examined, quoted

James as saying his "story didn't sound reasonable even to himself." T. P. Sullivan, head of the State Criminal Investigation Bureau, next called, said that, after talking with James for some time, James said he wished to "change his story." Sullivan said James told him he had hidden the pistol in a closet at first, but later wiped it off and placed it at the head of the bed. Sullivan produced a copy of the alleged "confession" and identified it as to questions asked James Crabb on the night of March 12 and the answers. He said the document had been read back to James. The defense asked for a chance to peruse the document.

Sheriff Gear had explained to the jury previously that he had no support, a prosecution contention that Betty Crabb could not have shot herself. The Sheriff was the first witness at the beginning of the second week of testimony in the manslaughter trial. He said he fired the pistol four times and found the recoil was upward and to the rear. Defense counsel unsuccessfully objected to the testimony.

The State was endeavoring to prove Betty could not have shot herself as in that case the pistol would have recoiled toward the foot of the bed.

During cross-examination, Defense Attorney J. M. Powers attempted to obtain an admission from Gear that, if the pistol were fired with the butt resting on a spring mattress, it might bounce down and then spring back in the direction the bullet traversed. Gear smiled and said he had an idea what would happen. Powers abruptly said, "That's all."

Powers apparently had been referring to the possibility Betty could have had the butt resting on the mattress, thus accounting for the finding of the pistol behind the mattress at the head of the bed and behind her back.

Mrs. Catherine Crabb, 39 years old, was expected to tell the jury today about events that led up to the death of Betty Crabb. Mrs. Crabb, who was subpoenaed as a State witness, became James' stepmother last June when she married Willis W. Crabb.

It was Catherine Crabb to whom

James ran after the tragedy, calling: "Catherine! Catherine! Betty's shot herself!"

Special Prosecutor John E. Cassidy said Mrs. Crabb would be the State's final witness.

MASS VISIT OF 25 LIBERALS TO JERSEY CITY PROPOSED O'Connell Proposes That Members of House Luncheon Club Join Him in Trip.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 31.—A mass visit of 25 House "liberals" to Jersey City has been suggested by Representative O'Connell (Dem.), Montana, who has sought unsuccessfully to speak in that city on civil liberties.
O'Connell said he would ask the others to join him in the visit. The Representatives are members of a Tuesday luncheon group. Representative Maverick (Dem.), Texas, one of the group, said he would not join "any busting into windmills in this part of the country," adding: "I'll do any riding I do in Texas where we have plenty of windmills of our own."

BORAH ASSAILS
SENATE AND HOUSE WAGE-HOUR BILLS

Says Five-Member Board Would Have Hitler-Like Powers, Demands Provision for Differentials.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 31.—Casting precedent aside, Senator Borah (Rep., Idaho), criticized both House and Senate wage-hour bills so vigorously today that attempts to reach a compromise may be retarded.

Borah, member of a joint committee seeking an agreement on the legislation, declared the Senate bill would give "Hitler-like" powers to a five-member board which could excess some firms from compliance with pay and hour regulations.

He made it plain he would not support that provision, despite custom which holds that conferees must back the measure approved by their chamber.

Nor will he agree, Borah said, to accept a bill without wage differentials. The House measure carries no such differentials.

His appeal against too speedy consideration of the legislation followed an expression of caution by Chairman Thomas (Dem.), Utah, of the Senate conferees against accepting "any old bill." He added, however, that he thought a satisfactory measure could be worked out quickly.

Taking an opposite view from Borah, Thomas bid for unified labor support of the "jurisdictional" board empowered by the Senate bill to grant exceptions and exemptions to pay and hour regulations.

Commenting that labor, "often betrayed at and after the polls, is wondering and uncertain," he said he believed it could trust the administration and Congress to set up a fair board. This was regarded as an overture to the American Federation of Labor, which has opposed creation of such a board and which has espoused the House version of nationally-uniform standards of hours and pay.

Borah States His Position.
Borah said he thought the issue had resolved itself into two questions.

"We have," he said, "wage differentials on one hand and the creation of a board on the other hand. If the board is created as the Senate passed the bill, its name would be Hitler and not a board."

"I look upon a wage-hour bill myself as almost entirely a humanitarian problem. It will add very little to purchasing power and very little to employment."

"It will not affect such industries as the automobile, steel or railroad industries. They are already within the terms of each of the bills. But where labor is unorganized and therefore without protection as to wages and hours, there is need of legislation."

Thomas said he favored fixing minimum wages at 40 cents an hour and a maximum work week at 40 hours, with the board empowered to grant exceptions, as the Senate bill provides.

He argued that there was "nothing weak or ineffective" about this method, as compared to the rigid terms of the House bill fixing a 25-cent minimum wage and a 44-hour week. The hourly wage would increase to 40 cents in three years, and the work week would drop to 40 hours after two years.

Controversies Over Relief Bill.
The controversy over wage-hour legislation for overshadowed Senate consideration of the only other remaining major issue—relief.

Administration supporters were beast by various proposals to "earmark" much of the three billion dollars authorized by the relief and public works bill, but they laid the basis for a counterattack.

Senator Schwellenbach (Dem.), Washington, said he would seek to eliminate from the bill restrictions on W P A expenditures so that relief funds could be poured out immediately in industrial centers where aid demands are increasing.

If he is unsuccessful in that action, Schwellenbach said he would try to increase W P A funds by $175,000,000. The bill now provides $1,450,000,000 for the W P A.

Senator Adams (Dem.), Colorado, floor manager for the bill, said he expected it to be passed by the Senate Thursday.

INQUEST IN FIRE DEATH PUT OVER ONCE MORE

W P A Worker Quoted as Saying He and Stranger Carried Injured Man Out.

The inquest in the death of Glenn Needling, alleged by two witnesses to have been left by an unidentified fireman to his fate in a burning building at 3223 Salena street last Wednesday night, was continued for the second time today, for further investigation.

Meanwhile, Fire Chief John J. O'Boyle is continuing his investigation, ordered by Mayor Bernard F. Beckmann, into the charge made by Harry W. Pershall and Charles S. Gallaher, house painters, that when they told the fireman that a man upstairs in the building was shouting for help, the fireman refused to go up after him. Pershall and Gallaher testified they themselves went up, picked up Needling, and took him down the stairs to the first floor.

At the inquest session today, District Chief Robert S. Finnegan testified he had been told by Robert G. Freukes, a W P A clerk, that he had aided in carrying Needling from the building but that Pershall had not taken part in the rescue.

Freukes, who lives at 3726 Salena street, told a Post-Dispatch reporter that he and a stranger, who might have been Gallaher, carried Needling from the second floor before firemen knew there was anyone in the building. Pershall, whom he knew, he said, was inside the door on the first floor and assisted only in carrying Needling into the street. It was to hear Freukes' story that the inquest was continued.

Meanwhile, Pershall repeated his story at the session today, saying that when he shouted to a fireman: "Why in hell don't you go up and get that man?" the fireman replied, "Why don't you?"

At that time, only the four members of Engine Co. No. 3, less than a block from the scene of the fire, in the Adjustable Bearing Plate Co. plant, were in the building. The four members all testified this morning that no one had told them there was a man on the second floor, and that they went ahead in the routine way with the work of fighting the blaze.

Gallaher and Pershall had testi-

DEAN HERBERT W. MUMFORD.

DEAN H. W. MUMFORD OF U. OF ILLINOIS DIES

Succumbs to Pneumonia From Lung Injury in Auto Accident May 14.

By the Associated Press.
CHAMPAIGN, Ill., May 31.—Dean Herbert W. Mumford of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture died today of pneumonia resulting from an injury suffered in an automobile accident May 14.

He suffered a lung injury in the crash. Pneumonia set in Sunday while he still was confined to Burnham City Hospital. He was 67 years old.

Mrs. Mumford, also hurt in the accident but released from the hospital May 26, was with him when he died.

Born on a farm at Moscow, Mich., in 1871, he was educated at Alphon College and Michigan Agricultural College, graduating in 1891. After four years of farming in Southern Michigan he became professor of animal husbandry at Michigan Agricultural College. In 1901 he joined the faculty of the University of Illinois as head of the department of animal husbandry. He became dean of the College of Agriculture in 1923.

A colleague, speaking of Dean Mumford, said: "When he first came to the department of animal husbandry, too much attention was being paid to production and too little to marketing and distribution. The first thing he did was to differentiate the market classes and grades of livestock to formulate a basis for market quotations. These reports were printed in market journals and adopted by many commission houses throughout the Middle West.

"At one time he was sent to investigate livestock conditions in the Argentine republic. Importations from that country were threatening depression to the market in Illinois and production on the Western ranges was being curtailed. Not much was published about this trip, but it was a considerable factor in shaping the present livestock policies in Illinois and the corn belt."

In the early 1920s he took a two-year leave of absence from the university and founded market bureau under direction of the Illinois Agricultural Association. Although working under a state organization, his field of activity covered the entire stock producing region from Nebraska to Texas and the Rockies to Ohio.

He was appointed in 1933 as a member of the board of directors of the Farm Credit Administration, St. Louis District.

His older brother was Frederick E. Mumford, who will retire next September as dean of the University of Missouri College of Agriculture.

He was married in 1898 to Miss Lena Crosby of Lansing, Mich. They had five children, one of whom, James Satterlee, died. The others are Dwight Curtis, Mary, Herbert Windsor Jr. and Virginia.

Lucille Elizabeth Hoppe Funeral. Funeral services for Miss Lucille Elizabeth Hoppe, 20 years old, daughter of Raymond P. Hoppe, 1472 Rowan avenue, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Albert H. Hoppe mortuary, 4111 Lindell boulevard, with interment in Memorial Park Cemetery. She died yesterday of diabetes at St. Luke's Hospital after an illness of six days. Also surviving are a sister, Mrs. Helen Bradley; her stepmother, Mrs. Thekla Hoppe, and a stepbrother, Roland Wolf, all of St. Louis. Her father is an employee of the Albert H. Hoppe funeral home.

TORONTO, May 31.—The four winning Toronto mothers in the fantastic Millar baby race were paid off at the rate of $111,111.11 a child yesterday.

The four women, adjudged in court as tying first place winners, had $100,000 apiece deposited to their accounts. Each bore nine children in the 10-year period ending Oct. 31, 1936.

Two other contestants who had failed to establish their claims in court received $12,500 each on condition they drop pending appeals.

Announcement of the payment was made by the executors of the will of Charles Vance Millar, lawyer, who decreed that the bulk of his estate should go to the Toronto mother bearing the most children in the 10 years following his death. The announcement said:

"The executors have made a distribution from funds on hand, having distributed the sum of $100,000 for the account of each of the mothers entitled to share in the residuary estate as determined in the judgment of Justice Middleton.

"The four mothers entitled to participate were declared to be Mrs. Lucy Alice Timleck, Mrs. Kathleen Ellen-Nagle, Mrs. Annie Katherine Smith and Mrs. Isabel Mary MacLean.

"The executors have been instructed that the four mothers referred to have made a settlement with Mrs. Lillian Kenny and Mrs. Pauline Mae Clarke whereby they abandon and forego all claims to participate in the residuary estate of the deceased."

The announcement corrected earlier statements that $75,000 "initial payments" had been made to the four winners.

When liquidation of the $500,000 Millar estate is completed, the four winners expect the remaining $75,000 to be divided among them.

W. L. Hutcheson and Mrs. Price Gosnell Kept Apart by Undelivered Letter.
The romance of William L. Hutcheson, 76 years old, a retired railroad clerk, and Mrs. Price Gosnell, 75, which was disrupted 30 years ago because of a misunderstanding, was renewed recently and resulted in their marriage Saturday at Montgomery City, Mo.

Hutcheson and his bride, both of whom have great-grandchildren, were teachers in the '30s in rural schools near St. Charles, and their engagement at that time was broken because of some differences between the two. Mrs. Paul H. Stone, 3111 Lake drive, East St. Louis, a granddaughter of Hutcheson, said he mailed a letter intended to clear up the misunderstanding, but somehow the young school teacher never received the letter and they remained apart.

Mrs. Stone said her grandfather never forgot his early romance and last fall began a search for Mrs. Gosnell. About four months ago he learned she lived at Rolla, Mo., and when she came to St. Louis soon after to visit a sister they renewed their acquaintance.

The ceremony, which the pair had hoped to keep secret for a time, was performed by the Rev. Fred Armstrong at the Montgomery City Methodist Church. Mr. and Mrs. Hutcheson will reside at his home at 8001 Laura street, East St. Louis.

3 MEN HOLD UP DRIVER AND SET TRUCK AFIRE

Tell Operator of Sid Smith Ice & Coal Co. Trailer-Tractor
His Boss Will Know Why.

The tractor of a trailer-truck owned by the Sid Smith Ice & Coal Co., 4268 W. North Market street, was partially burned today by three men who waylaid the driver, James Norman, a Negro, in East St. Louis, at 6 a. m. and, at pistol point, forced him to drive just east of the city limits, where they ejected him.

After the three men, in an automobile with Illinois license plates, crowded the trailer-truck to a curb at Ninth street and St. Clair avenue, one of them jumped into the cab, drew a revolver and said, "Step on the gas," Norman told East St. Louis police. Norman was not a holdup, Norman inquired what the trouble was. "Ask your boss, he'll know," was the reply.

Norman's employer, Sidney D. Smith, 4741 Lewis place, said he had had no labor trouble and was at a loss to account for the damage to the tractor, which was insured, was about $300, he said.

Before the tractor was burned, the trailer had come loose and had been abandoned. Norman, not permitted to slow down for a railroad crossing in the 2400 block of St. Clair avenue, had lost control of the machine, which ran over a curb. The jar detached the trailer.

The body of Charles Serfas, 71-year-old maintenance man at a Granite City ice plant, who had been missing since Wednesday, was found yesterday in a pond near the Nameoki City Hall, about two miles from his home.

Serfas, who lived at 2901 Benton street, Granite City, was last seen at 10:15 p. m. Wednesday by a watchman in a park opposite his home. Authorities discounted the possibility of foul play. Money and a watch which Serfas carried when he left home were found in his pockets. The pond is from five to eight feet deep and authorities said Serfas had apparently fallen in accidentally. An inquest will be held Thursday.

Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Caroline Serfas, two sons, and two daughters.

LONG ISLAND SOCIETY WOMAN ENDS LIFE

Mrs. Henry Sanford Jr. Had Grieved Over Condition of Child in Sanatorium.

By the Associated Press.
ST. JAMES, N. Y., May 31.—Mrs. Henry Sanford Jr., 23-year-old Long Island society beauty, was listed as a suicide yesterday by Coroner Grove Silliman following her death Sunday from a .38-caliber gunshot wound through the heart.

Police officers investigating the case said Mrs. Sanford had been ill for six months and had been grieving over the condition of her oldest child, a 4-year-old son, who has been in a sanatorium for some time. Her husband and another child, a 2-year-old daughter, also survive.

The young matron was the daughter of Dudley Davis, an attorney, of New York and Newport, R. I., and the granddaughter of the late William Davis, of New York, and the late William Groves of Providence, R. I.

A statement issued by the family said: "The wife of Henry Sanford Jr. shot herself in the bedroom of her home at 11 o'clock this morning (Sunday). The only people in the house at the time were her husband, her daughter Caroline, 2, and the maid. Mrs. Sanford was found by her husband. She had shot herself through the heart.

"Mrs. Sanford did not recover consciousness, dying within the hour. She had been ill for some time and recently was in a highly nervous state."

Mrs. Sanford attended the fashionable Miss Porter's school in Farmington, Conn., and made her debut in Newport and New York during the 1925-26 season.

Her husband, a member of the New York Yacht Club, was graduated from Williams College in 1923, a few weeks before their marriage. He is a grandson of the late Prof. Samuel Sanford, former head of the Yale music school, and a great-grandson of the late Henry Sanford, former president of the Adams Express Company.

Mrs. Sanford shot herself with a revolver owned by her husband, a collector of firearms.

In 1930 Mrs. Sanford's brother, Dudley Davis Jr., then a Harvard Junior, ended his life by jumping from a window of his parents' sixth-floor Park avenue apartment in New York. His father, while expressing the opinion his son had committed suicide, said he knew of no reason for the act. Young Davis had shared the room with a classmate and the two had spent the evening with friends at the Harvard Club before returning to

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, May 31.—A body which was found Sunday in the Hudson River off Fifth street, Hoboken, was identified yesterday as that of Albert Heinz, a young seaman who had been brought here from Miami, Fla., for deportation to Germany.

He died with a letter to Lou Annice Summers of Miami, in his pocket.

The letter follows in part: "Dear Honey: They are taking me away from you, from America, and from all the happiness which you have given me. I cannot do anything about it. Please forgive me if I have done you any harm, and thanks for everything you have done for me. . . . They will send me back to Germany, but I never will get there. . . . I will enter this country legal and make you happy or else."

GOODYEAR STRIKE ENDED AT AKRON

Signed Contract Promised, Rubber Workers' Union Says—Company Denies It.

By the Associated Press.
AKRON, O., May 31.—United Rubber Workers' Union members returned to work at the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. plant today, after voting by a 9-to-1 ratio last night to end their four-day strike and accept what their leaders called "certain concessions" from the company.

Union and non-union employees returned to work without incident. Only two city patrolmen were in evidence. A police automobile occupied by three officers was parked opposite No. 1 plant. Returning workers did not form groups but filed quietly through the gates.

A statement from the union's executive board said outstanding grievances had been settled, and that the company has pledged itself to conclude a written contract with the union.

Included in the statement was the assertion that "certain facts indicate that the strike itself was the result of a deliberate campaign to draw the union into an open fight under unfavorable conditions, and so lead to the breaking up of the union. This campaign took the line of provocation within the factory by stalling on grievance settlements, and by facts of petty tyranny."

The company replied in a formal statement that "any talk in the conferences about a signed agreement was limited to a mere expression of willingness on our part to discuss the subject at a future time."

"The charges made by the union that the strike called by its executives was inspired by a company plot are too ridiculous to be considered by any sane person."

STANLEY MCCORMICK'S STOCK SOLD, CONSERVATORS REPORT

Total of $12,000,000 Invested for Millionaire Who Was Declared Incompetent.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, May 31.—A conservators' report, filed in Probate Court today, disclosed the sale of 80,000 shares of International Harvester Co. common stock held by Stanley McCormick, who was adjudged incompetent in 1936.

Filed by the Continental Illinois National Bank & Trust Co. as managing agent for the conservators, Harold F. McCormick, a brother, and Mrs. Katherine Dexter McCormick, the wife, the report stated the stock brought an average price of $109 a share.

Probate Judge John O'Connell said the stock was sold last year to avoid a possible forced sale in the event of McCormick's death. Harvester Company shares sold today for less than $50.

Proceeds from the sale, together with additional funds, in all totaling $12,000,000, Judge O'Connell said, were invested in Government bonds.

The conservators' report showed expenses for the year included $104,535 for the maintenance of Edwin Rock, the estate on which McCormick lives near Santa Barbara, Cal.; $138,426 for medical care and personal needs, and $836,172 for conservators' fees, taxes and allowance to Mrs. McCormick.

Harold McCormick is chairman of the International Harvester board of directors.

CARDINALS AND BROWNS BREAK EVEN IN HOLIDAY GAMES

DAVIS WINNER AFTER M'GEE IS DEFEATED

Stu Martin's Error Gives Pirates 5-4 Victory in 17 Innings in First of Twin Bill.

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

PITTSBURGH, May 31.—The Cardinals were mightily glad they didn't have to play any major league baseball today after their harrowing experience of Decoration day here.

They went through 26 innings, played some six and one-half hours and left Forbes Field at a quarter of nine last evening, with an even break for the day.

The Redbirds fought with all their fury before they succumbed to the Pirates in the first game of the holiday doubleheader, 5 to 4, in 17 innings, the longest game of the season.

Then, with typical Cardinal pluck and base hits, they came back to grab the nightcap, 9 to 6, in a game that went the regulation nine innings, but under handicaps of wind and semi-darkness and a threatening Pirates rally in the ninth that almost caused the umpires to call the contest.

Shoun Founded in Fourth. Manager Frankie Frisch used up five hurlers against the Bucs in the opener, but when Bill McGee came on the scene in the ninth, he and Brooklyn Bob Klinger took themselves in one of the tightest hurling duels of the year.

The Pirates had attacked Clyde Shoun for a quartet of runs in the fourth inning, but the Cards got three off Jim Tobin before Klinger was called to the rescue in the sixth.

Klinger allowed the tying run in the ninth, but from the ninth to the seventeenth, the Redbirds never found home plate, though three times they had two men on bases, but on each occasion Klinger turned them back.

The Pirates finally scored the winning run in the seventeenth, but they were aided by Stu Martin's error on Arky Vaughan's probable double-play ball, and Lee Handley raced over from second.

The Pirates made 17 hits to 16 for the Cards, with Mickey Owen getting four, Stu Martin and Joe Stripp three each.

It was Klinger's second victory of the season, both over the Cards. He won the opening game of the season in relief. He is a former Cardinal farm hand, drafted by the Pirates from Sacramento last fall.

Curt Davis held the wild Pirates in check in the nightcap, but was nicked for 16 hits, to 12 for the Birds.

Joe Bowman allowed six runs and nine hits in the first five innings and Bill Swift held the Cardinals at bay, though his error on a force out at third base gave the Cards two extra runs.

The Pirates saved their best shots for the ninth, as darkness settled over Forbes Field. They attacked Davis for five hits and four runs before he retired the side, just as the umpires were ready to call the contest.

The crowd of some 20,000 stayed right through the four and one-half hour opening game and there were at least 10,000 in the stands when both teams trooped off the field at the finish of the six and one-half hours of baseball early last evening.

Enos Slaughter did the hitting for the Cards in the nightcap, getting four blows and driving in three runs.

Mickey Owen, who stuck behind the bat through the 26 innings, collected six hits for the day, as Lee Handley, Guy Suhr and Pep Young of the Pirates.

On their tour, which ended here, the Cardinals won four and lost eight games.

ELWOOD COOKE WINS ORANGE LAWN TOURNEY

By the Associated Press.

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J., May 31.—Elwood T. Cooke of Portland, Ore., upset second-seeded Arthur H. Hendrix of Lakeland, Fla., 6-4, 6-2, yesterday to win the revived Orange Lawn tennis club men's singles invitation tennis tournament.

Cooke added his name to David N. Jones of New York and Wilmer Allison of Austin, Tex., on the Thomas L. Gillespie trophy. Jones won in 1932 and Allison took a leg on the trophy in 1933, the last year the tournament was held.

The twenty-eight official ranking Oregonians started slowly against Hendrix, ranked fourth, but soon took the lead and swept forward to the easy three-set victory. Cooke was seeded sixth in the tourney.

CROWD OF 28,000 WAGERS $170,700 ON OPENING DAY

The prospect of watching some thrilling horse races (and perhaps the hope of winning bet) attracted about 28,000 persons to Fairmount Park yesterday afternoon, and while the sport was exciting enough to put a lasting dent in the memory of most of those present, the recollection of the throng itself will linger after the name Little Nymph, winner of the Inaugural Handicap, is lost.

For, according to General Manager D. C. Burnett, there never were more people jammed into the Fairmount enclosure which was opened in the fall of 1923.

"Back in the days before we took over the management the record crowd was 25,000," said Burnett.

That was the official estimate of the attendance the day Hasty won the 1926 Derby. Then, we had a 25,000 crowd last year when we opened up on Labor day. We had just about 28,000 persons on the grounds here yesterday and we estimate there were 10,000 automobiles on the parking area."

DETJE SHUTS OUT DETROIT WITH SIX HITS

ills, Bonetti and Linke Fail in Opener as Cochran's Men Triumph by 10 to 9.

A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
OSTON, May 31.—With a full schedule providing an afternoon of rest, the Browns idled here before plunging into their second Eastern invasion of the season. They met the Red Sox at Fenway Park tomorrow, hopeful that Gabby Street's pitching selection will duplicate the feat of Les Tietje in Detroit yesterday.

As a matter of fact, the Browns would be satisfied with a performance somewhat below that of Tietje. They do not expect such superior pitching every day. Neither do they expect any other major league club to deliver one of the best exhibitions of his career in shutting out the Tigers, 3 to 0. His triumph was gained in the second of the Memorial day doubleheader and gave the Browns an early break. Detroit took the first game, which was an altogether different kind of battle, as the final score of 10 to 9 suggests.

Detje held the Tigers to six hits, singles. The team that had hammered out 14 hits for a total of 26 in the first game was powerless before his curve and speed. Tietje Slope Tigers. Serious trouble threatened twice each time the slender right-hander was more than equal to the situation. In the fourth inning Hankenberg and Rudy York singled successfully with none out. Both runners advanced on Pete Fox's error and both were left when York kept Ray Hayworth from scoring from hitting the ball out of infield.

Detje's so-called power hitters and Tietje in the sixth. Charlie Springer opened with a single to left and took second on Greenberg's single in the same direction. York, determined that he would get a "fat pitch," finally walked, filling the bases, with none out. There was the Tigers' best chance. York squelched it by disposing of a pop fly and inducing Hayworth to ground into a double play. In the last three innings only nine hits faced the St. Louis pitcher. Meanwhile, the Browns got their runs off Roxie Lawson in this inning: Harold Clift doubled in first inning and scored on Red's single. Sam West singled in sixth and was conveyed around bases by singles from the bats of George McQuinn and Billy Sullivan. In the ninth, though the Browns did not need any more runs, Don Heffner singled, added on Tietje's sacrifice and scored on Kress's single.

49,000 See Twin Bill. The doubleheader was played by a crowd of 49,000, the largest since the opening of the season. Besides the pitching duel between Tietje and York, they saw a slugger match the first game.

Rudy York laid the foundation for the Detroit's victory when he hit a home run off Howard Miller. The bases filled in the first inning. York later added another, his tenth of the season, at the expense of Julio Bonetti, while Hankenberg hammered out his fifth after Ed Linke had gone home.

The Browns did some home running, too. Kress knocked one off Wade in the sixth inning, and Clift had tripled, and Roy had knocked one in the ninth. Slicker Coffman was on the bases' circuit drive was made the role of a pinch hitter and the bases empty. It left the Browns one run short of a tie.

and now it will be fortunate, indeed if the promoter and the boxers can make up $100,000 with 25,000 persons on hand.
In betting Ross remains the favorite at 7 to 5 but how much real money is around is problematical. You hear talk of Al Johnson, the actor, and his friends from Pacific Coast here with a pool of $50,000 to bet on Armstrong which is to be covered by a New York syndicate. That means little. Maybe the money is up, maybe it isn't.

The two boxers are unconcerned with betting. Armstrong is after the welterweight championship, far more valuable than the one he now holds. Ross would naturally like to retain it but there are many who feel that Barney's expanding interests have taken away some of the thrill in the title. They point out that he is now happily married. That he has a jewelry business in Chicago and a chance to go into his father-in-law's clothing business here. These things are supposed to have taken off the edge of his desire of conquest.

Armstrong's earnings, it has been real well for himself in the boxing game but is still young and thinks he can do better.
Henry, a product of Papin street of St. Louis, told the writer the other day that he has amassed $70,000 out of his ring earnings represented by an annuity fund in New York of $50,000, a home in California worth $10,000 and an apartment building worth $18,000. That's pretty good for a former bowling alley pin boy.

The funny thing is that both Ross and Armstrong are looking beyond their ring days and hoping for the time when they can forego the long training grind and the wear and tear of boxing.
Still, all that aside, Armstrong is the cynic. Henry, the perpetual motion kid who acts punning with the opening bell and keeps going to the finish. Ross is the polished boxer of 10 years' experience with a great left hand and a good stiff punch, although not a killing one in his right hand. Whether he will be able to stand the power of Henry's attack is the question. If he can, say his supporters, he'll win the decision at the end of 15 rounds. If he can't, Armstrong will win by a knockout inside of 10 rounds.

of pitchers who will report to Manager Frisch at Bradenton late in February. Rickey glanced at the list and registered enthusiasm.
"In that list," he said, "are the pitchers who will win pennants for the Cardinals in 1936 and 1937. Maybe sooner."
"Rickey picked up a piece of chalk and bracketed five names in the middle of the list."
"There's pennants in those names," he said. "There is a Cardinal pitching staff of two or three years hence. I mean enough pitching to make a pennant winner out of a team."

The column went on to name and give information about the pitchers and about five names in mind—Harrell, Copeland, Kleinke, Phippen and Heusser—and see if Branch Rickey is as right about the five young men as he was a few years ago when he said a screwball named Dizzy Dean would be electrifying the packed stands at Sportsman's park.

Fun Looks Back.
S. Van Meter of Greenville, Ill., who accepted the invitation to put the yardstick on Branch Rickey as a prognosticator, sent a clipping of the Extra Innings of Jan. 14, 1935 with a letter received today. The letter follows:
"Dear Extra Innings:
"Please find clipping from Post-Dispatch dated 1-14-35 in which Mr. Rickey assured the readers of the great pitching staff the Cardinals were to have within a few years, same to consist of Harrell, Copeland, Kleinke, Phippen and Heusser."
"I put the yardstick on Mr. Rickey and now I feel that the Cards need some reinforcements to wish to suggest that this matter be taken up with Judge Landis and possibly the Judge would see to it that Copeland, Kleinke, Phippen and Heusser did not have fair trials and would order all back to St. Louis to help out Ray Harrell."
"Yours very respectfully,
"E. S. VAN METER."

Floyd Roberts, who established a new record in winning the 500-mile Indianapolis Speedway Classic yesterday, waving from the cockpit of his car just after he had crossed the finish line. Roberts, in his first major victory, averaged 117.2 miles an hour and made only one stop during the 500-mile grind.

Roberts Sets a New Record of 117.2 in Winning Auto Race

By the Associated Press.
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 31.—Checks that probably will total between $35,000 and $38,000 were being signed and sealed today for delivery to brawny, 38-year-old Floyd Roberts, former Sunday school teacher from Van Nuys, Cal., who rode to a record-breaking victory yesterday in the annual 500-mile Indianapolis Speedway race.

The payoff will come tonight when the 33 drivers who started the contest gather for the annual post-race dinner.
As the roar of 11 other racing motors and cheers of upward of 135,000 fans sounded in his ears, Roberts sped down the mile straightaway shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon to get the checkered flag of victory with an average of 117.2 miles an hour.
His speed wiped out the old record of 113.580 miles an hour set last year by Wilbur Shaw of Indianapolis. Shaw finished second yesterday, about five miles behind.

The day's only fatality came when a wheel flew from the car driven by 27-year-old Emil Andres of Chicago and killed a spectator.
Terre Haute Man Killed.
The victim was Everett Spence, 33, Terre Haute (Ind.) probation officer who had been watching the race with nine other persons from a platform built on a truck.

The car went through a fence on a curve and overturned three times. Andres was taken to a hospital with a broken collarbone, two broken ribs, a bruised lung and a slight fracture of his upper jaw. His condition was reported fairly good today.
Chet Miller of Detroit came in third, Ted Horn of Los Angeles fourth and Chet Gardner of Long Beach, Cal., fifth.

Only the first five drivers completed the 500 miles. Rain began just after Roberts finished caused speedway officials to flag the other seven off the track.
The other five to share in prize money, in a order in which they placed, are Herb Grider of Pittsburgh, Harry MacQuinn of Milwaukee, Billy Devore of St. John, Kan., Joel Thorne of Tucson, Ariz., and Frank Weerne of Pasadena, Cal. Duke Nalon of Chicago, eleventh, and George Bailey of Detroit, twelfth, also were in the running at the end.

Stop Cost Miller $5000.
Miller's third-place finish was heart-breaking. Driving about five miles behind Roberts and a short distance ahead of Shaw, he had to stop on his next-to-last lap for gasoline. That stop cost him $5000. Shaw passed him and grabbed the $10,000 second prize. Miller will get $5000.
Roberts, who quit his job in a Van Nuys aviation factory to race here, drove a red-and-black speedster owned by Lou Moore of Los Angeles, former driver.

Incidentally said ball staid in play until it was knocked out of the park and failed to come back. When this occurred it was considered a great break for the next batter who would get a crack at a white ball.

G. A. R. Survivors Take Part in Exercises There — Roads and Parks Crowded Decoration Day

Memorial day was observed as a holiday by the majority of St. Louis workers, many of whom made it the final day of a two or three day outing. An even larger number, that did not go out of the city, spent the day in the parks, or in picnic groups elsewhere.

Three more such Saturday-to-Monday holiday periods will occur in 1938, that of July 2-4; Sept. 2-5, the latter date being Labor day; and Dec. 24-26, Christmas day falling on Sunday and having its civil observance on Monday.

Highways leading into the city were lined last evening, and until late at night, with returning motor parties. At the parks during the day, particularly at the Zoo and in the adjacent section of Forest Park, the crowds were among the largest ever seen there.

Soldiers' Memorial Opened.
The ceremonial observances of Memorial day were well attended, the chief of these being the public opening of the new Soldiers' Memorial on Memorial Plaza. The Memorial building, which had its formal dedication during a visit of President Roosevelt in 1928, was opened by representatives of the city, the State and the veterans' organizations, with speeches by Gov. Lloyd C. Stark, Mayor Bernard F. Dickmann and Rabbi Ferdinand M. Isserman.

The opening ceremony lasted two hours. The prize-winning St. Louis American Legion band furnished music. The invocation was pronounced by the Rev. James Johnston of St. Patrick's Church, and the benediction by the Rev. Dr. C. Oscar Johnson of Third Baptist Church.

Gov. Stark's address was on "Preparedness for Peace." He recalled the long delay in American participation in the World War, after the declaration of a state of war in 1917, and the deaths occasioned by lack of preparation for the Spanish-American War. Speaking with respect of those who sincerely advocate pacifism, he said: "I cannot agree with them that, in a world aflame with bigotry and territorial greed, it is safe to leave our nation exposed to firebrands."

Favors Curb on War Profits.
"I think it significant," the Governor said, "that all veterans' organizations are united on the plan for a universal service law, to prevent wartime profiteering and to place the nation's industry, as well as its man power, at the service of the Government in a national emergency."

Mayor Dickmann recited the history of the Memorial building, a $1,000,000 structure, and told of its dimensions and the symbolism of its architecture and its sculpture, the principal figures of which are still to be placed. He called attention to the cenotaph, or empty tomb, in the center of the loggia, with polished granite sides bearing the names, in alphabetical order, of the 1190 war dead of St. Louis and St. Louis County.

Rabbi Isserman, in a talk based on Lincoln's Gettysburg address, spoke of the principles of democracy, and urged general participation in government, as an antidote to the threats of autocracy and dictatorship.

At Jefferson Barracks.
At Jefferson Barracks, a large gathering participated in exercises honoring the soldiers of the Civil, Spanish-American and World wars who are buried in the National Cemetery there. The United Spanish War Veterans were in charge of the program, and four veterans of the Union Army, members of the Grand Army of the Republic, were participants in the ceremony. Dr. Newell Patterson of East St. Louis, who will be 100 years old in October, read Lincoln's Gettysburg address, and William C. Pfeffer of St. Louis, now 88, read Gen. John A. Logan's order establishing Memorial day. Their comrades present were August Moresau and George P. Milton, each 92 years old. Gov. Stark repeated briefly his views on the necessity of preparedness. Harry S. Sharpe, an officer of the Spanish War Veterans, presided, and other veterans' and service organizations were represented on the program.

The painting is signed, and dated 1861. It has been in the family of Arthur H. Gale Jr. of Webster Groves since 1871 when his grandfather presented it to Gale's father as a birthday gift. RUSSIAN PILGRIMS CHASE U. S. NAZIS IN PENNSYLVANIA

Police Escort German American Bund Members From South Canaan.

By the Associated Press.
SOUTH CANAAN, Pa., May 31.—Six German-American Bund members were quickly escorted from town yesterday by police after the six were rushed by pilgrims visiting St. Tikhon's Russian Orthodox Monastery.

The American Nazis, including a woman, were dressed in the brown shirt uniform of the bund and they wore swastikas. They were distributing literature among the pilgrims who had gathered to pay tribute to high Russian Orthodox priests buried in the monastery cemetery. Police swarmed about their car when about 60 of the Russian-Americans chased the car down a tree-arched lane. The rush occurred after Emil Pronko, high constable of Olyphant, ordered the driver of the bund car to stop after he had failed to heed the constable's whistle.

SUPREME COURT DENIES PLEA OF TWO SENTENCED TO DEATH

Refuses to Review Conviction of Men to Be Hanged for Shooting of Federal Agent.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 31.—Two men sentenced to be hanged for the killing of Wimberly W. Baker, Federal agent, at the Topeka (Kan.) Postoffice in April, 1937, failed in an appeal to the Supreme Court today.

The court refused to pass upon a decision of the Tenth Circuit Court of Appeals upholding the convictions of Robert Suhay and Glen Applegate in the United States District Court to Topeka. Suhay and Applegate were alleged to have stolen an automobile in New York City and robbed a bank at Ketonah, N. Y., of $18,000. They were objects of a nationwide search.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation learned that the men would call for mail at the Topeka Postoffice. Baker was among the operatives stationed there. He sought to arrest Applegate who asked for mail under the name of Moore. Several shots were fired and Baker was fatally wounded. The two men were captured later by a Sheriff at Plattsmouth, Neb.

TWO SUPPORTERS OF SPENDING SAY NEW DEAL FAILED

Logan, Wheeler Term Bill Admission That Administration's Recovery Program Hasn't Worked.

BOTH ASSAIL U. S. MONETARY POLICIES

Montanan Ridicules "Sit-down of Capital Alibi" Asks How Stabilization Fund Has Been Used.

By RICHARD L. STOKES, Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Two Democratic Senators who declared their intention of voting for the spending and pump-priming bill nevertheless affirmed, on the floor today, that its passage will be a confession that all the administration's measures for recovery have failed.

Senator Logan of Kentucky spoke in support of an amendment he has offered, for stabilizing currency and prices. Senator Wheeler of Montana declared that "we have got to pass this bill, but we shall thereby admit to the country that all the things we have done heretofore have been ineffective in restoring prosperity."

"It is all very well," he continued, "to offer as alibi that there is a sit-down strike of capital. But nobody but an insane man will refuse to do business if he can make money, regardless of who is President of the United States."

Wheeler asserted that he has always been opposed to high tariffs, but that something must be done to protect the American farmer, who is becoming destitute while last year our imports of agricultural, wool and textile products exceeded our exports by a billion dollars. He attributed this influx of foreign goods to the depreciation of international currencies, and demanded that the administration stabilize the dollar at 20 cents, established as profit on its gold seizures, has been used in an effort to restore normal equilibrium of world money, as was promised by President Roosevelt.

This question, the speaker went on, is involved in deepest mystery. "The agents of the Treasury know how the fund is operated," he exclaimed, pounding his desk, "and the leaders of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York know. But a member of Congress is permitted to know, although both the stabilization fund and the Federal Reserve system were created by act of Congress. Congress has asked nothing, because it hasn't had the courage to ask it is high time that Congress should know."

Logan's Speech. It must be confessed, Logan declared, that the administration has thus far got nowhere in its program of recovery.

"The country will never overcome its difficulties," he maintained, "and will never regain prosperity until we regulate prices upward and have a monetary order that will work. An illustrious citizen has referred to 'horse and buggy' days. Well, we have 'horse and buggy' methods and worse, in our financial system."

He continued that the Federal Reserve Board has the power to regulate prices, and has done so whenever they seemed too high, but the board has never seemed to understand it also has authority to raise prices when they are too low.

Communists Adopt Platform For 1938; Party Declares Issue Is Fascism, Not Capitalism

Delegates Put Democracy Before Socialism at New York Convention; One Plank Calls for Mooney's Release.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, May 31.—Delegates to the tenth national convention of the Communist party adopted today the party's 1938 platform, including a declaration that "the issue is not Socialism or capitalism—the issue is democracy or Fascism."

Planks called for the release of Tom Mooney and Warren K. Billings, convicted of San Francisco's Preparedness day parade bombing; James McNamara, convicted of the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times Building; the Scottsboro (Ala.) defendants, and "all political prisoners."

Other planks demanded "equal rights for all nationalities, including the foreign born," called for legal prohibition of propaganda against Negroes, Jews or Catholics on the basis of race or religion, and urged extension of the "American right of political asylum to include all victims of political reaction and Fascism."

The convention closes tonight. The party decided yesterday to fight the proposed national cut in railroad wages.

A resolution recommending the railroad wage action was adopted. "If the wages of railroad workers are reduced, it would undoubtedly mark the beginning of a wage cut drive affecting all of the basic industries," declared Jack Johnstone, Illinois delegate who introduced the resolution. The cut has been scheduled for July 1.

"Prompt action by the full forces of labor is necessary," Johnstone said.

REMOVAL OF RIVERFRONT TRACKS TO BE DISCUSSED
South St. Louis Business Men's Association to Hold Meeting Tomorrow.

The Business Men's Association of South St. Louis, meeting tomorrow at 12:30 p. m., at the Edge-water Club, 5500 South Broadway, will discuss the problem involved in the proposed removal of the Terminal Railroad Association's elevated tracks from the levee.

A. F. Versen, managing director, called the meeting as a result of the announcement of Secretary of the Interior Ickes, in charge of the riverfront Jefferson Memorial, that no funds would be expended on the Memorial until removal of the elevated structure was assured.

Versen, a traffic expert, holds that the industrial growth of the South Side would be unfavorably affected by any change which would cut off direct connection between the southern industrial area and the North St. Louis yards of the Burlington, Wabash and M-K-T railroads.

Premier Wants Short Session; Farm Relief Debate Thursday.

PARIS, May 31.—The French parliament reconvened today. The houses, which sat only 10 minutes, rushed through their organization procedure and postponed debate until Thursday, when farm relief will be discussed.

Premier Daladier's cabinet was formed April 10 and three days later won term parliament the power to govern by decree until July 31 to cope with economic, financial and defense problems. Parliament then was recessed. The Premier, seeking a short session, was expected to present a mild legislative program.

20c TO 25c BOUNTY ON 1939 WHEAT PLANNED BY AAA

30,000,000-Acre Cut in Planting Proposed Because of Prospect of Surplus.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 31.—Wheat farmers may receive a bounty of 20 to 25 cents a bushel on their 1939 grain, officials said yesterday. If they co-operate with the Agricultural Adjustment Administration in drastically reducing next year's crop. Because of prospects for the largest wheat surplus on record, the A. A. A. is preparing under the new farm law to reduce plantings from 80,000,000 acres for this year's crop to 50,000,000 acres or less for 1939.

Growers were promised benefit payments at the rate of 12 cents a bushel on their normal production for complying with this year's acreage allotments. Officials hope to increase that amount next year. Whether the 20 or 25 cents bounty will be available, they said, depends on congressional approval of an additional $212,000,000 for farm benefits. The fund has been included in the administration's relief bill by the Senate Agriculture Committee.

Senators close to the A. A. A. indicated they would seek authority for maximum payments of 10 cents a bushel from the $212,000,000 fund. Instead of 8 cents. The balance of the bounty would be obtained from the $500,000,000 already voted for the soil conservation program.

GOV. CHANDLER CAMPAIGNS IN HARLAN COUNTY, KENTUCKY

He Says He Is "Still for Roosevelt" When Addressing Crowd of Miners.
By the Associated Press.
HARLAN, Ky., May 31.—As a friend of President Roosevelt, Gov. A. B. Chandler carried into Harlan County yesterday his campaign for the United States Senate seat of Alben W. Barkley.

To a crowd of 500 miners and others gathered in the Harlan County Courthouse and thronging streets outside, Gov. Chandler declared "I'm still for President Roosevelt."

The occasion was "Appreciation day" sponsored by District 19 of United Mine Workers of America for passage of the 1938 Legislative of a law barring private payment of peace officers and requiring their appointment by the Governor. "I and another law setting out qualifications of private peace officers become law at midnight last night. During the day Chandler received a petition from officers of the U. M. W. A. requesting clemency for four men serving life prison sentences for participation in a labor clash in which five men were killed at Evans, in Harlan County, in 1931.

MINER TESTIFIES HARLAN MAN SAID HE'D SHOOT HIM

Witness Tells Jury He Was Jailed on False Charge After Warning to Stop Union Activity.

SAYS EXECUTIVE THREATENED HIM

Declares He Was Fired Last July After He Returned From U M W A Convention.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Ky., May 31.—George Gilbert, a coal miner, testified in the Harlan conspiracy trial today that Harry Bennett, vice-president and general manager of the Harlan Fuel Co., told him he would shoot him if he did not "quit writing U. M. W. A." around the mine.

Gilbert declared the remark was made in the presence of John Hickey, then a Deputy Sheriff assigned to guard the mine. Hickey is one of the 22 law officers on trial with 22 coal company executives and 20 corporations on charges of conspiring to keep miners from organizing. Harry Bennett is not a defendant.

Gilbert said that later he was jailed by Hickey on a "trumped-up drunkenness charge." He was taken to jail, he said, by C. V. Bennett, executive of the company and a defendant in this trial.

Afterwards, he testified, he went back to work and was discharged in July, 1937, when he reported for work after attending a union convention.

Says He Pleaded Guilty. Gilbert was allowed to testify, over defense objections, that he pleaded guilty to drunkenness before then County Judge Morris Saylor because "that was the best way out of it. They would do anything they wanted to at that time in Harlan County."

The witness, a stocky man apparently in his thirties, with black, wavy hair, told of being asked by Hickey to "beat up a union man," in return for which he was to receive a "good job." He said he refused.

Gilbert quoted C. V. Bennett as saying he had spent $10,000 to "break up one union."

Another former employee of the Harlan Fuel Co., Lincoln Lose, testified he had run the gamut of jobs from coal loader to section boss and back a number of times.

Charles I. Dawson, chief of defense counsel, asked on cross-examination: "Do you know of any job where they didn't offer you around there trying to keep you satisfied?"

On redirect examination, Lose testified he had no "difficulty" until after he was asked by the general foreman of the mine, while he was day straw boss, to fire a union worker, and later was asked by Harry Bennett to "call a fake strike." He said he did neither.

He admitted on cross-examination that most of the job changes were voluntary. He said he had a back pay claim pending before the National Labor Relations Board.

Yesterday's Testimony. The Government placed Charles Scott, Negro miner, on the stand. Continued on Page 8, Column 4.

State Senator M. A. Daly, Indicted, Resigns as County Commissioner at Governor's Request.
HARTFORD, Conn., May 31.—State Senator Matthew A. Daly, one of several legislators whose prosecution on criminal charges in connection with "lobbying and corrupt practices" at the recent General Assembly session was recommended by an extraordinary grand jury, resigned today as a New Haven County Commissioner.

The former Connecticut W. P. A. administrator, protesting his "record was without blemish," told Gov. Cross "inferences" in the jury's report made it advisable for him to relinquish his post.

The grand jury, whose report on what it termed "rampant corruption" in the City of Waterbury has resulted in the arrest on conspiracy charges of Mayor Frank Hayes and 26 others, accused Daly and a group of legislators of accepting stock "gratuities" for favorable votes on certain issues.

The resignation of Daly, Athletic Commissioner Joseph H. Lawlor and Statute Revision Commissioner John D. Thoms, both of Waterbury, were demanded by Gov. Cross following the jury's report. Lawlor and Thoms complied last week.

POPE 81 YEARS OLD TODAY; AS STRONG AS A YEAR AGO

Low Mass at Summer Residence and Audiences to Few Intimates Mark Birthday.
By the Associated Press.
CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy, May 31.—Pope Pius XI is 81 years old today.

It was his wish that the day pass virtually like any other. A low mass in the private chapel at his summer residence here and audiences to a few intimates who wished to congratulate him were his chief concessions to the anniversary.

The birthday anniversary found the Pope in comparatively good health. Persons near him said he appeared strong, perhaps stronger, than he was a year ago.

Letters and telegrams of congratulations and flowers poured into the villa. Among the messages was one from Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, Papal Secretary of State, on behalf of the Papal delegation to the Eucharistic Congress at Budapest.

Both here and at Vatican City hundreds of persons called to sign registers honoring the Pope.

350-MILE-AN-HOUR BRITISH WAR PLANE

Announced Top Speed of Hawker Hurricane Nearly Six Miles a Minute.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
LONDON, May 31.—Top speed of about 350 miles an hour in level flight, or nearly six miles a minute, is achieved by the British Air Force's secret Hawker Hurricane fighting monoplane, it was published here today. Its cruising speed is 300 m. p. h.

It was a Hurricane which some months ago made a spectacular "blind" night flight of 377 miles from Edinburgh to London in 48 minutes, with the slight assistance of a diagonal cross wind; and it is this model on which Great Britain is now depending to guard London and other vital centers against enemy bombers.

The plane is armed with a battery of eight guns, four in each wing. With a normal service load it can climb from sea level to 15,000 feet in six minutes and its service ceiling—the height at which its rate of climb has fallen to 100 feet a minute—is 35,000 feet. With these two qualities of climb and ceiling, authorities here are confident that it can get up and on top of enemy bombing planes before the latter have reached any vital objective.

Fuel load gives the plane flying duration of from two to four hours, depending upon the amount of gasoline carried and the speed at which a given mission must be accomplished. Oxygen is carried for flying in the semi-stratosphere.

Still a closely guarded secret is the number of these planes already in service and the rate of their production.

The magic of perfect air conditioning
To ENTER an air conditioned establishment, not to meet a cold blast, not to become chilled while remaining, not to experience annoying contrast on leaving, is to recognize an unusual achievement in air engineering.
Strange as it may seem, a temperature of 80 with the humidity at 40, is more comfortable than a temperature of 70 with humidity at 60. Truly science works wonders, and we take much pride in introducing a corrective feature to this fine establishment.
True, the massive construction of the Robert J. Ambruster Mortuary has insured against the effects of extremes in outside temperature, and the interiors have always been within reasonable degrees of comfort. But here is improvement—filtered air, cool air, dry air, humidity control, and unvarying relief from temperature and humidity changes. The importance of breathing air free from dust, soot, pollen, and other impurities cannot be over-emphasized.
It is not enough that a man provide for the physical needs of his dependents, there are the mental reactions at the time of bereavement to be considered. The Robert J. Ambruster Pre-Arranged Funeral Plan does away with the necessity for inopportune business discussions, agitating, distracting, and upsetting to the efforts to maintain poise and to exercise customary good judgment.
Inquiries entail no obligation and will prove informative and helpful. Call CAhany 2532 for an appointment.
The Robert J. Ambruster Mortuary is now completely and automatically air conditioned by the Kelvinator System. In such manner have we continued our purpose to leave nothing undone that would increase the efficiency of our service.
You are invited to call and realize the extent to which this provision is made for your comfort. Funerals there must be at all times of the year, and this successful departure will be found grateful and satisfactory to everyone.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

On Air Tragedies.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

ISN'T it about time for some air-line official to come forward and still maintain that flying is safe and that the loss of a liner and 10 lives doesn't mean a thing—just a little incident in the forward march of civilization?

Personal sacrifice and that of innocent, trusting children is just routine stuff. Anybody who has the price is invited to step forward and be assured that flying is safe. What are a few crack-ups in the totality of flights?

You will be furnished with all the conveniences and attention the heart desires. Lovely hostesses, all the gadgets except the one you really need and must have when trouble comes, if you are entitled to what is called a Chinaman's chance—a parachute, yes, you guessed it.

The apologetics for the air lines explain away the possible use for a parachute since they claim that trouble comes without warning. I prefer to believe the pilots are intelligent men and know when they are in danger and, in many cases, could save their cargo of precious human lives.

I'm not a technical expert but I have read one technical expert's opinion that it is parsimoniousness of the owners who fail to equip each passenger with a parachute. Also a fear that furnishing a parachute to each passenger will create a fear psychosis that will queer the business.

Importance of Court Reporting.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

NOTE the contention of counsel for E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., in their plea for a new trial in a damage suit, that Circuit Judge Eugene L. Padberg refused to permit employment of a competent court reporter by the defendant, which was not satisfied with the competency of the Judge's own reporter (a brother-in-law of Judge Padberg's sister).

Of course, the mere charge means nothing unless, when the time comes, the regular reporter of the court is unable to paint an accurate word picture of what happened during the trial. If he delivers an accurate record to counsel, then he has been the victim of a baseless accusation. However, should he be unable to prepare a proper record, then a shocking injustice has been visited upon the litigants, and no matter what action may be taken by the trial court, someone will suffer severely.

The reporter in a court of record is probably the most important individual sitting in the courtroom. Learned counsel may ably present their theory of the case, the Judge may rule with profound wisdom on the contentions. Counsel, but if the reporter is incompetent, it is all for naught. Inasmuch as the ultimate disposition of millions of dollars in property rights and the lives and liberties of citizens each year are dependent upon the accurate and faithful record of the reporter, he is really a check upon the jury's emotionality, bias or prejudice.

A writer recently stated in the press that St. Louisans slogan should be "Save the Circuit Court!" Our citizens, in addition to electing the proper kind of Judges, should insist that the Judges they do elect shall perform their part of the job by appointing only competent court officers to help them maintain the courts at a high level of efficiency.

EX-GOV. SMITH ON STATE PROBLEMS.

Those were sage words that former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, as one of the delegates, addressed to the New York State Constitutional Convention, now in session at Albany.

Although Mr. Smith spoke with special reference to the present situation in New York, his remarks have wide application throughout the field of state government. Take, for example, what he said about the merging of counties. Setting out the consolidation of these outmoded local units as one of New York's chief State needs, he declared:

There are altogether too many counties at the present time and there is an immense waste in duplication of county officers and county seats. We have provided for internal organization of counties. We should permit two or more counties to consolidate. There is no rhyme or reason in 63 counties and 1000 townships.

What former Gov. Smith says about the multiplicity of counties applies, as a matter of fact, with even greater force in Missouri, as this comparison shows:

	Area.	Population.	Counties.
Missouri	69,420	3,629,367	114
New York	49,204	12,588,066	63

Thus, although Missouri is not half again as large as New York and has only about one-fourth as many people, it has virtually twice as many counties. Clearly this is a situation which is indefensible and one about which the rural taxpayer in Missouri will do something in the course of time.

Mr. Smith's remarks on the multiplicity of laws also need to be read in Missouri, as, indeed, they need to be read in every state. Proposing an amendment which would prevent the Legislature from passing separate bills at every session regulating the fishing and hunting seasons and allowing a multitude of private claims, Mr. Smith said that such matters should be disposed of by general law. The solution he proposed for the conservation phase of this problem is the very solution which Missouri is attempting to apply with its new Conservation Commission—complete transfer of such matters of detail from the Legislature to a regulatory body equipped with a trained personnel. New York's Court of Claims, he said, should take care of all claim matters.

There is also food for thought in what Mr. Smith said about legislative sessions. Now that New York has lengthened the term of the Governor, he thinks his State should take steps to prevent a general law-making marathon annually. His idea is that there should be a general legislative session after the election of a Governor, but only a limited financial session in other years, unless the Governor declares an emergency. He bases this on the sober conviction that "we have altogether too many laws passed without consideration"—a conviction which has wide support among thoughtful Americans.

An excellent statement this, by an acknowledged authority in the field of state government. Doubtless it will have the attention in New York which is due it. In Missouri also, since a referendum on the question of revising the State Constitution will be held in 1942, there is special reason for discussion of the problems that Mr. Smith sets out. It is by no means too early to begin thinking about that election, and about the sorely needed changes that a constitutional convention can bring about.

NEW TECHNIQUE FOR INDORSEMENTS.

Does the pronouncement of Relief Administrator Harry Hopkins in favor of Congressman Wearin for Senator in Iowa portend not only a new policy of the administration in favoring its friends and punishing others, but also a new technique for accomplishing this end? There is some reason for so believing.

The action of Mr. Hopkins in coming out against Senator Gillette, who had opposed the President's court-packing plan, closely parallels that of Secretary of Interior Ickes in issuing a blast against Gov. Martin of Oregon, who had opposed the administration's public power projects and labor measures.

The political logic in the two cases is similar. Secretary Ickes, charged with administering the huge hydro-electric power projects which Gov. Martin had opposed in Oregon, was the logical choice in the administration family to issue a statement against the Governor. Mr. Hopkins, a native Iowan, had a better pretext—however tenuous it was—for speaking out in the Iowa primary than any other member of the President's official circle.

It remains to be seen to what extent this technique of interference—which for all practical purposes is interference by the President himself—will be further elaborated and applied.

LEGISLATIVE OPPORTUNITY AT SPRINGFIELD.

The prompt passage of the direct relief allotment bill, followed by approval by Gov. Horner, completes only one, although unquestionably the most pressing, of the pieces of business before the special session of the Illinois Legislature. The Governor's proposal for the submission at the November election of the question of a call for a State constitutional convention is of the utmost importance; experience demonstrates that not until Illinois rewrites its 68-year-old Constitution will it free itself of the rigid provisions of its revenue article which preclude the establishment of a State income tax.

Other meritorious items are in the session's call. Legislation to enable communities to vote on the city manager plan—killed in the last session by Kelly-Nash legislators from Cook County—should be passed. An automobile drivers' license law is needed, as is legislation to regulate the Southern Illinois oil field. With old University Hall condemned, the University of Illinois is sorely in need of a new building. If Illinois is to join in the Federal Government's low-cost housing program, enabling legislation must be passed at Springfield.

Let the special session handle these matters as competently as it has dealt with the relief crisis, and it will write a record in which its members and the State of Illinois can take a proper pride.

TOWARD SETTLEMENT OF A DISPUTE.

Up at the extreme northwestern corner of Missouri, the Des Moines River has been cutting capers, with the result that Iowa and Missouri are in a dispute as to the exact location of their boundary in the Kahoka-Keokuk vicinity. Unable to adjust their differences, the Attorneys-General of the two states carried their troubles to the United States Supreme Court and that tribunal has now taken the first step toward a settlement. It is a step which promises a satisfactory hearing and a fair determination.

Samuel Williston, professor of law at Harvard, who has been named by the Supreme Court as special master to take the testimony, is one of the outstanding members of the American bar and the law-teaching profession. His practice goes back to 1889, and in that half-century span he has been a steadfast worker for uniform state laws and has drawn many of the uniform statutes adopted in this eminently sensible movement. When the American Bar Association awarded the first of its annual gold medals for "conspicuous service to American jurisprudence," Harvard's Williston was the recipient.

Our differences with Iowa over the wayward Des Moines ought to be advanced a long way toward settlement by his ministrations.

OUR LEARNED SENATORS.

Learning rolled over Washington the other day. Henry Adams may have diligently sought education in a long span of striving and never found it. Happier fortune has been the lot of Senator White of Maine and Senator Austin of Vermont. Their companionship with books has yielded a richer competence than the frozen assets of facts; it has endowed them with an attribute which, on the word of Havelock Ellis, only a chosen few attain—the ability to draw the deadly parallel between the dim past and the dizzy present, to examine the vainglorious of long ago and the sovereign egotism of today and to bracket them, in depreciation's fateful idiom, as two of a kind.

To those scholars whom bleak New England has given to politics, acknowledgment is graciously due for moments of delightful nostalgia. Gibbon's Decline and Fall may be among those tenacious influences one is forever rubbing elbows with, but Lecky's History of European Morals has virtually been disowned. It is good to know those deep, packed pages live. And it is something of a joy to meet, after so long an absence, that exuberant, exciting and always excited John Fluke. Let them label him historian, or essayist, stick on him any orthodox tag they will, but in the adolescence of the generation about to die, here was a Yankee troubadour who transmuted prosy events into stirring balladry.

There will be dissent, of course, from the deductions and analogies which the Senators from Maine and Vermont flung at the country over the heads of their colleagues. Priam may not have been the kindest figure in Asia Minor's vast and crowded and mysterious stage, whose boards the spirit of drama still treads, whose footlights somehow yet contrive a weird fascination. Priam may have been that small town's Duke of Windsor, a gay and festive weakling, but surely it was not his extravagance that finally wrote "Futurism" across the broken arch.

After all, Agamemnon has his friends even amidst the soaring and sagging of the New Deal. Marlowe may have visioned "the face that launched a thousand ships and burnt the topless towers." Archaeology may have spilled a half dozen or more cities in the none too appetizing omelette it has served. But Agamemnon was the charioteer who came and saw and conquered. The unpaid night-club chits of Priam may be waved aside as an indiscreet incident.

The next station is Athens. Possibly Pericles was the F. D. R. of B. C. Perhaps he did invest money in marble columns which prudence would have allocated to battleships. But, except for Pericles, there had been no rival to foment ill-tempered Sparta's jealousy, no tutor for Alexander, no violet crown, no crumbling walls to haunt posterity with the nobler unbullit Parthenons of the first Athenian's mind, perhaps no legacy of Greece.

We are inclined to believe that Senator Logan of Kentucky, speaking, of course, as a partisan defender of the faith, was correct in casting Joseph as the profligate who flattened Egypt's adventure in the abundant life. And had every Caesar been an Augustus, still Attilla would have come to town. And didn't the Stuarts, as a family, have something of a talent for losing their heads?

The blunderings of history which the erudite Senators have cited, which they say, are repeating on a continental scale, which they insist, will plunge us into the same ghastly ruin—these alarms need not be taken too seriously. Uncle Sam is a pretty rugged individual. But the literary field day in the Senate was an interesting occasion, and we may all rejoice in the demonstrated fact that Maine and Vermont have draped their togas on Senators who in their school days improved each shining hour.

A HERO RECEIVES HIS DUE.

In addition to being one of the season's outstanding moving pictures, "Yellow Jack," dealing with the victory of science over yellow fever, is excellent history. It is better history, in fact, than is found in many of our public school texts, which tend to make Americans the sole heroes of the episode.

The movie, on the other hand, gives broad credit to Dr. Carlos Juan Finlay, who had conducted experiments proving that the Stegomyia mosquito was the carrier of the disease two long decades before the United States Yellow Fever Commission became interested in the theory.

Wearily but undiscouraged, Dr. Finlay had made the rounds of the Cuban and American public health offices seeking funds to verify his theory on a large scale, but to no avail. When finally he persuaded the Yellow Fever Commission to carry out such a test, his battle was won.

But somehow, the name of Dr. Finlay has been more or less lost in the shuffle, while the names of Walter Reed, William Crawford Gorgas and the Lepidist men associated with them in verifying the mosquito transmission theory have become household words in the United States. The truth is that there is glory enough for all in this conquest of a major scourge.

ACCURATE LABELS FOR PROPAGANDA.

The outpouring of propaganda from foreign sources by which Americans are confronted daily offers a difficult problem. Some of it is plainly directed against this country's democratic institutions, yet to shut it off by law would be to violate the principles of freedom on which those institutions are based.

A measure passed by both branches of Congress and now before the House for action on amendments would go far toward solving the difficulty. It is based on the premise that the American people can be trusted to form sound judgments on such propaganda, and that they are entitled to know its source. The bill provides that all propagandists for foreign governments, both non-citizens and Americans, register with the State Department, stating the identity of their employer, the amount of pay they receive and the length of their contract.

Such a law would bring out into the open many undercover agents of foreign countries now active in this country. An article or address praising an alien "ism" can be given its proper weight when it is known that the author is not a disinterested spokesman, but an agent working for pay. The measure has been aptly called a pure food law for propaganda.

PEACE OR WAR TODAY?

Other Side of the Highway Debate

Automobile Club head states case of opposition to Citizens' Road Association plan, as presented in article by Hugh Stephens; denies there is danger of State losing U. S. aid; Constitution makes tinkering with law impossible, he says; urges waiting for completion of the survey lest policy be adopted hastily and prove impractical.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THERE appeared in the Post-Dispatch last week an interesting article by Hugh Stephens supporting the Citizens' Road Association proposal for an increased gasoline tax and allocation of the State highway construction revenue.

Mr. Stephens is a civic-minded citizen acquainted with selfish motives in his activities for highway development in Missouri. It is a matter of deep regret that, for the first time in 15 years, I find myself in disagreement with him regarding State highway policies. As a rule Mr. Stephens founds his judgment on proved facts and legislation, but unfortunately in this instance his conclusions are based upon a misunderstanding of the law and facts, as follows:

1. He states that unless there is increased revenue, the State will lose $1,200,000 of Federal aid funds. Similar statements have been made by State officials. The present Federal aid law provides that states which use the proceeds of special motor vehicle taxes only for highway purposes and are unable to match the allotment of Federal aid funds may receive their apportionment of such funds which they are unable to match. As Missouri does not divert its highway revenue, there seems no danger of this State losing any part of its Federal aid allotment, even though the entire amount cannot be matched.

2. Mr. Stephens asserts that failure to adopt a new constructive program at the fall election will leave the doors open for radical tinkering with Missouri's sound road-building laws. The present constitutional provisions prevent such tinkering. The apportionment of funds to the various classes of roads is within the discretion of the commission, a much more flexible and efficient provision than the percentage apportionment provided for in the proposal of the Citizens' Road Association.

All the provisions remain in effect whether the 3-cent gasoline tax is adopted or defeated at the polls in November, unless a new constitutional amendment is adopted. The Legislature has no power to change any of the fundamentals or to add to or take from the road mileage under the jurisdiction of the State Highway Commission. We will continue to have a program at the end of 1938 under the terms of the existing constitutional amendment.

3. Mr. Stephens correctly states that the surveys indicate the revenue produced by some farm-to-market highways barely cover from one-fourth to one-half the cost of maintenance. The Commission, he says, therefore prudently listed the maximum number of miles that can be absorbed in a 10-year period without jeopardizing payment of the outstanding indebtedness and upkeep of the entire system.

One of the objections of the Board of Governors of the Automobile Club of Missouri to the proposal is that the committee failed to provide against the construction of highways which are not economically justified or "to prevent the expenditure of State funds for construction of roads on which the character and volume of traffic is such that they are a local and not a State responsibility." The Citizens' Road Association proposes to add 5000 miles of supplementary roads regardless of need, justification or available funds.

4. Mr. Stephens states there is no need for awaiting further data from the highway planning survey. He asserts that the program was prepared after study of the highway planning survey figures and estimates of the Highway Department and findings of the Bureau of Public Roads. I know of no part of the plan which was based on any such data except the provision for allocating funds for supplementary roads.

The record of the Automobile Club of Missouri demonstrates, beyond question, its sincere interest in our highway development. During the past 25 years, the club has proposed or sponsored all the legislation and constitutional amendments under which we have developed our magnificent system. At the present time, its Board of Governors is acting in the interest of the system as a whole without favoritism to any particular class of highways.

We again submit that the highway planning survey report has not yet been made, the data gathered by the survey has not yet been analyzed and thoroughly studied by the State Highway Department or the Bureau of Public Roads and that there is real danger of freezing into a constitutional amendment a plan which may not be supported by such complete information and study.

In the meantime, will the Highway Department lack funds for highway construction? In a statement made about six weeks ago, the chairman of the commission estimated that for 1938 there would be only $4,461,632 of State funds available for construction. However, he estimated maintenance for the year at $5,800,000, whereas last year maintenance cost $4,800,000; the increase of $1,000,000 was not explained.

Assuming that maintenance cost in 1938 will not exceed that of 1937, there should be $5,400,000 of State funds available, to which can be added $4,500,000 of Federal funds. Therefore, there will be a total of about $10,000,000 available for construction of the State highway system. In addition to this, W. P. A. will spend about $18,000,000 on low-cost roads in the State, and, according to the survey, at least $6,000,000 of local funds is available for road construction.

With nearly $30,000,000 available for building roads of various classes and types in Missouri during the year, and probably as much during 1939, it seems plain that it would be wise to wait until the highway planning survey report is made before projecting a new long-range program.

Furthermore, revision of the Missouri motor vehicle owners' taxes is just as important as providing the highway program. Certainly the people who are paying the bill should be given consideration. The Citizens' Road Association proposal entirely ignores this important feature.

The Automobile Club calls attention to the fact that there are 11 different kinds of taxes imposed on Missouri motor vehicle owners. If this class of people is to pay the entire cost of State highways and more revenue is needed for that purpose, then the motor vehicle owners should be relieved of some taxes such as property taxes and city taxes which are not used for State highway purposes.

Price-Fixing Is Price-Raising

From the New York Post.

IF gasoline consumers knew what was proposed in the bill to divorce marketing from other phases of the oil business, you'd have an army of them here opposing this legislation.

The speaker before the Senate Judiciary Committee was J. Howard Pew, president of the Sun Oil Co. The bill he opposes is the Gillette bill, which would open the way for Federal price-fixing for gasoline.

It is the same kind of price-fixing which is proposed in a bill before the New Jersey Legislature, which is being fought bitterly by the Chamber of Commerce, consumer organizations and motorists' societies.

Price-fixing means price-raising. In New Jersey, it is admitted that if the proposed bill goes through, the price of gasoline will shoot up 3 cents a gallon overnight. The same 3-cent private tax on motorists would be nation-wide if the Gillette bill passes.

Price-fixing is fundamentally incompatible with capitalism. And we are glad that such a leader in the oil industry as Pew made that point before the Senate when he declared: "There's nothing I consider more un-American and unprofitable than the fixing of prices."

Price-fixing, in its very essence, means the beginning of Socialism. For it is intolerable to permit private companies to conspire to fix prices, in clear violation of the anti-trust laws; while any other kind of price-fixing must of necessity entail government regulation. And once the public catches on to what the high cost of price-fixing means, they will be expected to demand that Government ownership replace Government regulation—for their own protection.

The basic protection of consumers under capitalism is competition—free competition which is the life of trade and has been the making of American industry.

Once the principle of price-fixing is established for gasoline, it will be but a step to carry it into effect for one commodity after another—until we have a virtual regimentation of both industry and consumers throughout the country—a step toward Socialism on a scale unmatched anywhere save in Russia.

These bills—in Washington and in Trenton—should be defeated.

EUROPE MYSTIFIES A MALAY.

From a Letter to the London Times.

HE was an old Malay chief, and it was my privilege to talk with him in the roomy veranda of his old-fashioned house of wood and thatch. He spoke no English, never saw a newspaper, had never heard of Hitler or the League of Nations, had once seen an airplane which he gravely assured me traveled a great deal faster than a bullock cart, and was a gentleman to his fingertips. The talk drifted finally to the bickerings among the nations of Europe.

"I have heard it said," he remarked, "that there is not much big jungle left, but that rice and firewood are plentiful, with fish in the rivers and in the sea, and deer and other animals to shoot or snare. Tell me then, Tuan, why is it that these nations cannot live peacefully within their own borders and attend to their own affairs?"

I am sorry to say that I was unable to think of a really convincing reply.

USEFUL SLOGAN.

TODAY and TOMORROW

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Intermission

BEING about to sail for Europe, I ought not to doubt to be filled with large ideas about the prospects of peace and recovery, and of civilization in general. But I cannot really pretend that to write this final article is anything more than one of the innumerable chores that have to be done before embarking.

Though it should be taken more seriously, in fact, it is just one more thing to do along with going to the dentist, trying to understand the regulations about tourist life, and wondering where the keys to the trunk have been mislaid.

Yet perhaps it is just as well for each of us that now and then he should become diverted from the great and infinitely disturbing events, tendencies and forebodings of these days to the trivial, boring, but comforting details involved in doing some definite personal thing. For it is exhausting, and rather bad for the ego, to live perpetually on the grand scale of world history and to traffic only in affairs that are paramount, decisive, critical, spectacular and earth-shaking.

The human animal is adapted only to occasional grandeur; he cannot live all the day and every day at the pitch of a Wagnerian demigod or even of a tenor in an Italian opera. If he tries to do that, it only to the extent of responding adequately to the headlines in each day's newspapers, he finds himself talking, and what is worse, thinking at the top of his voice, and imagining that the under he shouts the more likely he is to be understood.

At that point he needs a vacation, and, if he finds in himself any secret disposition to think that he cannot be spared, it is the surest sign of all that he needs a vacation. I detect the symptoms in myself, and so for a few weeks, until July, I shall be like the young lady who did not know what she thought until she had heard what she said. It would, of course, be an excellent thing if all the peoples of the world could have a vacation.

Columnists on Vacation

MONTICELLO COLLEGE 100TH GRADUATION

Dr. Mary Emma Woolley Speaks—65 Schools Represented in Procession.

Woman's role as a quiet, often little noted molder of the national thinking was set out as ample justification for the present emphasis on world problems in the education of American girls by Dr. Mary Emma Woolley, president emerita of Mount Holyoke College, in her address at the 100th commencement of Monticello College at Godfrey, Ill., yesterday.

The outdoor graduation exercises, which were attended by 1000 alumnae and friends of Monticello, closed the college's three-day centennial program. Sixty-five universities, colleges and secondary schools, beginning with Harvard, founded in 1636, and ending with Bennington College, established in 1932, were represented in the academic procession, which described a quadrangle under the oaks and elms of the large campus.

Dr. Frank J. Bruno, professor of applied sociology in Washington University, who holds a degree from Yale University, presented the centenary greetings from Yale. Dr. William M. Hudson, president of Blackburn College, spoke for the Illinois colleges, and Col. Arthur M. Hiltch, president of Kemper Military School, for the junior colleges. The Rev. Dr. Karl Morgan Block, minister of St. Michael and St. George's Church, 8345 Wydown boulevard, Bishop coadjutor-elect for California and a trustee of Monticello, opened and closed the commencement program.

George Irwin Rohrbough, president of Monticello, presented the degree of Associate in Arts to a class of 27, including Miss Eleanor Darnall, daughter of Col. and Mrs. J. R. Darnall of the Forest Park Hotel. Eleven diplomas in arts were awarded, and 36 diplomas to students in the preparatory school, among them Gladys Betty Tysler, 7347 Cornell avenue, and Miss Elinor Scharf, 5743 De Giverville avenue.

The Capt. Benjamin Godfrey prize, offered as part of the centennial observance for student essays on the life and works of the Cape Cod sea captain and Alton financier who founded Monticello, was presented to Miss Helen Lanagan of Ft. Benning, Ga., class of 1939, for her essay, "Capt. Benjamin Godfrey and the American Renaissance."

Mrs. Bryan Owen Rohde, member of the class of 1901 and former United States Minister to Denmark, who spoke at the alumnae dinner Saturday, was presented with a centenary medal. Others to receive the medal included Dr. Wollmer, President Emeritus Martin Parsons of Monticello, a resident of Terre Haute, Ind.; Charles A. Caldwell, Alton, president of the Monticello board and a trustee since 1903, and Celia C. Hilliard, Brighton, Ill., who attended Monticello in 1861, the oldest living alumna.

The Harriet Newell Haskell House, named in memory of Monticello's principal from 1867 to 1907—a span of nearly half of the college's century—was dedicated Sunday.

WASHINGTON FUNERAL FOR MRS. COCHRAN

Wife of St. Louis Congressman Died Sunday at Atlantic City.

The funeral of Mrs. Jeannette M. Cochran, wife of Congressman John J. Cochran of St. Louis, who died of a heart attack at Atlantic City, N. J., at midnight Sunday, will be held at Washington tomorrow afternoon. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery here at a time not yet fixed.

Mrs. Cochran, who was 52 years old and had been in poor health recently, had gone to Atlantic City for the Memorial day holiday, while the Congressman went fishing. Her physician had advised the rest because of high blood pressure.

She was stricken after returning to the Traymore Hotel from a stroll on the boardwalk.

Cochran, a Democrat, representing the Thirteenth District, had gone to a fishing lodge on Chesapeake Bay for the week-end. Word was sent to him there and he reached Atlantic City early yesterday.

Before her marriage, in 1912, Mrs. Cochran, the Jeannette Brown, was a resident of Kentucky. She took a quiet interest in her husband's political affairs, but refrained from active campaigning.

William L. Igoe, former Congressman, whom Cochran had served as secretary, and W. J. Brennan, a Democratic leader, will attend the services in Washington.

Extreme Declines Reduced
Near Close - Commodities Are Erratic, Wheat Breaking to 5-Year Low - Bonds Shift Irregularly

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 31.—The stock market bogged down today under extremely light selling. Losses ran to 2 or more points at the worst, but support in the final hour enabled pivotal issues to chip down extreme declines and here and there modest plus signs were in evidence at the close. There were several new 1938 lows recorded.

The smallness of volume provided some comfort for analysts if not for the commission houses. The interpretation was that important holdings are reduced to come out at current prices. Transfers totaled 404,000 shares.

Erratic movements of commodities did much to temper what little buying urge was present in the stock list. Bonds shifted over an irregular range. Foreign securities markets pointed downward.

On top of gloomy business and industrial forecasts, trading contingents could discover scant stimulation in Washington happenings. Talk of a revival of the lately shelved reorganization bill was said to have chilled Wall Street sentiment, in addition to the battle over the wage-hour and pump-priming measures which might delay adjournment of Congress.

Steels Backed Water.
Steels backed water from the start and the American Iron & Steel Institute later estimated this week's mill operations off 2.9 points to the lowest rate since early in January.

Cotton broke more than 1/4 at a bale at one time, but pared the setback in the afternoon. Weakness here was in the wake of another slump in the staple at Liverpool. Grains dipped to new lows for the season before getting back on balance. Rubber futures were given a morning run-up when the International Regulations Committee at London cut the allowable export quota for the third quarter sharply.

Supreme Court decisions, the last before this body reconvenes in October after its summer recess, were about a stand-off on the whole.

Wheat at Chicago finished unchanged to 1/4 cent a bushel and corn was down 1/4 to 1/2.

cast by Institute.

Associated Press.
NEW YORK, May 31.—Operating in the steel industry for the week will decline 2.9 points from 29.0 per cent of capacity, compared with 29.9 per cent last week, according to the American Iron and Steel Institute.

Estimated today.
At month ago operations were at 30.7 per cent of capacity, a year ago they were at 29.9 per cent.

Production has come from an early spring peak of 30.7 per cent.
The steel men do not count on a general holiday in the industry. However, the holiday was believed in trade circles to emphasize the usual seasonal following the spring bulge.

Living off inventories and on chance of a cut in prices later in the year.
A record-breaking slump in production in the last half of 1937.

Outstanding Gains Are in Obligations of Concerns With Operations Abroad.

Associated Press.
NEW YORK, May 31.—Outstanding gains in obligations of companies with operations abroad and modest strength in foreign dollar issues contrasted with generally lower prices elsewhere in the bond market today.

International Telephone 5s were nearly three points, while the same company's convertible 4 1/2s of 1939 and 4 1/2s of 1942 had advanced two or more near the final hour.

Nickel Plate 5s suffered heavily in the rail section, dipping more than five points. New York Central and Hartford 5s were off nearly four and others down a point or more.

United States 3 1/2s of 1941 and Southern Railway General 5s and United Pacific 3 1/2s of 1941, 1942 and 1943 were all down a point.

French in the foreign list and Southern American shares advanced as much as a point, although Argentina 4 1/2s stood out for a moderate gain.

Japanese bonds were mostly lower.
U. S. Government issues were generally unchanged to 3-3/4 points.

International Telephone 5s ended an early advance to end 1/2 higher at 86 1/2. Elsewhere, however, a heavy tone prevailed.

Foreign Exchange
NEW YORK, May 31.—Upward movement of major European currencies against the dollar today reflected resistance to foreign exchange dealings today.

UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT BONDS

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, May 31.—Prices of major raw materials and foodstuffs swung erratically today as markets sought to adjust quotations to prospects of mounting supplies, particularly in cotton and wheat.

For American farmer, falling prices were an offset to nature's promise of bountiful harvest. Accompanying private forecasts of a record-breaking wheat yield in the United States was a further decline of that cereal in the Chicago pit, but the market regained part of the loss before the final. Final prices for wheat futures were unchanged to 1/4 cent.

Lowest level in five years. Corn was 1/4 cent lower in foreign and out-of-town markets during the Memorial day recess in New York markets, cotton futures dropped around $1 a bale. Rubber advanced after the International Rubber Committee cut export quotas sharply.

Copper futures also turned up in New York with a recovery in metals abroad, attributed mainly to recent figure indicating large foreign consumption of the red metal.

Before the rally came, July wheat at Chicago dropped under 68 cents a bushel in extension of the steep decline since copious rains nourished growing crops in the United States, improving harvest prospects.

Rubber part of its early gains was closed in New York 10 to 17 cents higher. Cotton was 60 cents to $1.05 a bale higher at a cent higher. Copper futures advanced 14 to 18 cents a pound.

Weighted wholesale staple prices, with 1935 as 100, declined to 84.00, the lowest since May 25, 1934, and compared with 64.18 Saturday.

Selling in cotton was ascribed by some observers to a belated carryover of the world's stock of cotton from the old crop, while consumption of the staple has been curtailed.

Coming crop was not without effect on the Government's old crop averaging about a pound. New crop cotton was under 5 cents.

EXPORT BALANCE AND SOURCE OF PAYMENT

Credit Not Available — April Imports Smallest in About 3 Years.

NEW YORK, May 31.—The export balance of the United States in the first four months this year was the largest since the short-lived post-war boom.

The $435,000,000 excess of exports over imports recently reported by the Department of Commerce through April 30 topped even the 1929 balance by more than $100,000,000.

An annual combination of circumstances, foreign trade experts say, accounted for most of the export balance. Most European countries emerged from the war with normal production capacity crippled. Our agricultural and industrial machine was able to meet the emergency.

Swirl in Exports.
A flood of materials of every description swept across the Atlantic. It was paid for mainly by credit extended to both sides and the defeated nations. The export balance at this time was swollen out of all proportion for the reason these same countries were virtually incapacitated industrially, and were unable to send us their normal goods of goods.

As shortages were restored and goods shipped by Europe approached normal levels, domestic export balance declined steadily. The earlier excess was based on lack of adequate supplies. This year, however, a large balance has resulted primarily from vagaries of demand.

For one thing, depression has cut sharply into the volume of merchandise imported by industry. April imports, for instance, were the smallest in approximately three years. Substantial stocks of rubber, tin, coffee, cocoa, burlap and silk in the hands of manufacturers meant the incoming streams of these staples sank to a minimum.

Demand for products of American factories, on the other hand, were artificially stimulated this year by the frantic efforts of a European to rearm. Massed military, airplanes, motors, trucks, automobiles, scrap metal and other goods found ready markets abroad. Little effect on military expenditures.

Old Payment Method.
Credit in the form of loans permitted payments to be made on purchases two decades ago. Since loans are no longer available, most foreign imports are made in the manner in which the gold and silver of course, are coming into the country in payment of settlement of balances due. American source of funds to meet the deficit, trade goods held, is foreign investments in domestic securities.

NEW 5-YEAR LOW PRICE FOR WHEAT CROP REPORT

Unofficial Estimate of 1,055,000,000 Bushels, Record—Most of Day's Losses Later Regained on Winnipeg Budge.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, May 31.—Wheat recovered most of 1½ cents loss today after toppling to fresh five-year low price levels because of a record-breaking 1938 crop forecast. Barges of 10 cents a bushel in two days at Winnipeg by the May delivery there helped to rally the Chicago market. In addition, good export demand from Europe and North America acted as a stimulus on declines, together with announcement Yugoslavia had suspended wheat import duties.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were unchanged to ¼ cent lower, compared with Saturday's finish, July 68½¢, September 70½¢, corn 1¼¢ down, July 54½¢, September 55½¢, and oats unchanged to ¼¢ off.

Wheat prices slumped as much as 1½ cents a bushel to new five-year lows after issuance of a private forecast that total United States production this year would be the largest on record.

Buyers increased on the break, however, rallying prices to some extent.

An outstanding factor in the newest price tumbles was a forecast by C. M. Galvin, a leading unofficial authority, that the 1938 United States crop would be the largest ever known, 1,055,000,000. The previous record crop was 1,009,000,000 bushels, harvested in 1915.

Galvin estimated the 1938 production of winter wheat at 804,088,000 bushels against his estimate of 755,190,000 a year ago and the Government estimate of 754,153,000 bushels. Spring wheat was estimated at 251,000,000 bushels, compared with 188,891,000 last year.

Selling that resulted from the Galvin forecast was preceded by a transient fractional upturn here responsive to relative firmness of the Liverpool market. Early demand, however, soon dwindled and then heavy liquidating sales by discouraged holders plunged Chicago prices down. Liverpool quotations, down 1¼¢ to 2½¢ cents net, closed today at 1¼¢ to 1½¢ cents net.

Provisions were responsive to downturns of hog values and of grains.

Buying was associated with reports of improved export demand, stimulated to some extent by recent sharp declines in wheat prices all over the world. A cargo of domestic wheat was sold to Italy and that country was believed to have bought additional quantities. Italy has taken four cargoes of Australian wheat in the past 48 hours. Winnipeg market indicated about 500,000 bushels had been sold for export there.

WELL, I'LL TELL YOU—By Bob Burns

THE main reason why the work moves so slow on these Government projects is just because the foreman don't understand the men. When Grandpa Snazzy was foreman of a ditch diggin' project down home, he watched the men work in the ditch for several hours and finally he hollered, "All right, boys, come on out." The men came up on the bank and Grandpa says, "All right, get back in!" As soon as they got back in the ditch, he called 'em out again. When the men asked him what his idea was, Grandpa says, "Well, boys, this job has't get done pretty quick and I've noticed you bring more dirt out on your shoes than you do when you're shovelin'!"

Problems That Affect Plans For Weddings

Couple May Hold Reception in New Home—Daughters as Flower Girls

By Emily Post

DEAR MRS. POST: Do you think it will be proper for us to have our wedding reception in our own new house, as we would very much like to do? My father and mother could easily have it in their house, but as I am to live within easy distance of the church and since so many of the people who are coming to the reception may not be able to see my house for some time, I would naturally like to give the reception in our own place. It will be entirely furnished and ready to be lived in by then.

Answer: I see no reason why the wedding invitations sent out in the names of your parents could not give your new address for the reception, instead of their own. In other words, the reception will be exactly the same, only the background will be your new home instead of your present one. At the end of the reception the guests will perhaps leave you instead of your going away before they leave, as is the usual custom.

Dear Mrs. Post: I am marrying for the second time and it is the second time for the man I am marrying. I am a widow and he is divorced. Each of us has a little girl 6 years old. We would both like to have them in the wedding ceremony in some way, but are not even sure that this idea is proper. Will you tell us if it is and, if so, how they can take part.

Answer: Certainly let them take part as flower girls. Dress them alike in clothes that go well with what you wear. That is, if you are wearing what the fashion pages call a hostess type of dress, then the little girls would be dressed as they would for a party. If you are wearing street clothes, then they should wear street dresses, with hats suitable for the same time of day. Their clothes should, of course, be pretty—in the sense of being picturesque—and they should carry baskets of flowers.

Dear Mrs. Post: When addressing wedding invitations to people who live in big cities—for example, New York and Chicago—is it proper to leave off the name of the state?

Answer: It is always proper to leave off the State of New York, but all other cities are followed by the name of the state. The state is included even in the case of Chicago, notwithstanding its importance and the fact that there is no other city of the same name.

WOMEN Law GRADUATES

Eleven Members of Fair Sex to Receive Diplomas Thursday, With Six of Them Ranking Among First Ten in Class Including 82 Men.

By MARGUERITE MARTYN

THE largest class of women graduating in law that anyone hereabouts seems to have any record of will be turned out at the City College of Law and Finance on Thursday. There are 11 women in the class of 93. They are Miss Jane Abchal, Miss Laura Andreas, Miss Amy Marion Becker, Miss Evelyn Burke, Miss Julia Culinovic, Miss Ellen Duggan, Miss Stella Michel, Miss Gloria Lee Miller, Miss Mary O'Shaughnessy, Miss Florabelle Peer, Miss Bettie J. Russell.

The high scholastic standing among the women is out of all proportion to their number in relation to the men of the class. Miss Evelyn Burke ranks number one in the whole class, with a grade of 94 and 14-16, even higher than the highest man, who is Hugh Anderson, ranking number two. That's something. The highest grade ever made in Missouri State bar examinations is said to have been made by a woman. At the time Miss Lena Frank (now the wife of Judge Ernest F. Oakley) took the examination, that announcement was made with regard to her grade. They don't announce the grades publicly any more. Maybe for fear of shaming the men!

While the girls were assembling for the accompanying photograph, Former Circuit Judge John W. Calhoun of the school faculty, sought Miss Burke out to congratulate her before the others on the paper she had written on his subject, code pleading. "It was a very fine paper," he beamed, courteously brimming over with pride and pleasure in his pupil.

Six of the young women placed among the highest 10 of the class. Three, Miss Burke, Miss Miller and Miss Andreas, qualify as honor graduates, all with grades above 90. The six, with their respective ranks, are, Evelyn Burke, 1; Gloria Miller, 2; Laura Andreas, 3; Jane Abchal, 4; Amy Marion Becker, 5; Ellen Duggan, 6.

It all only goes to show that women, when they go into a profession in which they seem to be not any too welcome, feel they must, or at least do, take their preparation more seriously than does the average man. It was some 40 years ago that the first woman in these parts—in Illinois, it was—sued to be admitted to the bar. Her suit brought under the fourteenth amendment, that no state "shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States," was unsuccessful. Not long afterward, however, the Legislature related and passed a law permitting women to practice in the courts. That was a long time ago, considering how fast women have advanced in other fields and that there has been no appreciable invasion of women as actual pleaders in court.

Spinach is a valuable vegetable, but it does need some additional flavor to make it appeal to all the family. You can make it more palatable by adding a cheese cream sauce or minced onions and green peppers or still again by mixing in a bit of catsup or chili sauce.

Physician Has Large Clinic Check Health

"They Used Every Machine but Human Brain," Comments Doctor.

By Logan Clendening, M. D.

MY OLD FRIEND, Dr. Adrian Gibbs, has just returned from one of the large medical centers in the East, where they persuaded him to have a thorough examination of himself by all departments of the diagnostic staff.

"A health audit! That's what they call it," he said. "I dunno why I ever fell for it. You would think I was old enough to know better. I guess it's what Barnum said. But the population rate is increasing so fast that they will have to revise the statistics—there are about 20 born every minute these days. They told me that old one to begin with—about how an annual physical examination is not just going to your family doctor and have him ask a few questions and listen to you with a stethoscope, and examine your urine, and take your blood pressure, and then put you on the back and tell you you are all right. No! They said this is to be a thorough up-to-date scientific health audit with all the resources of the laboratory and the X-ray room and the different kinds of machines. And they did it. Yes, sir, they used every machine but the human brain on me.

"Still, I dunno. I believe it if I mind you—I ever have another one I will take the old-family-doctor-on-the-back variety. These machines just find more things that nobody can cure, and then you lie awake nights worrying about it. It's a machine age product and not very human. They would have been nice if they had taken a history of me—asked me if I felt bad and if so, where. But they didn't! I suppose they figured my mind didn't have any electrical connections and was, therefore, incapable of perceiving any sensations from my body.

"They sent me down to the X-ray room first thing—without any breakfast, of course—and put a nightgown that tied up the back, exposing everything that a person has any pride in concealing, on me, and a lot of young women ordered me around so that I was photographed in every position known to the classic sculptors, and some of them were so proud to sculpt the young lady came in and said, 'You are going to X-ray your sinuses. Which side hurts the most?'

"I said, 'Neither side hurts at all. I never had any sinus trouble. I can breathe through both sides of my nose perfectly. I haven't had a cold in 15 years. I have no secretion. If anybody had ever taken a history on me they would have known that and these sinus pictures would not have to be taken.' But she went right ahead. She took plenty pictures of my perfectly normal sinuses—with my chin down, and my forehead down and sideways, and once on my nose bare old knees on a hard table, bending over with my nose in a triangular slot in a plate-holder. They all turned out normal, which my poor inefficient brain told me they would. I suppose it's all for the best. Still I wish they had taken a history. These plates cost me $125."

"What else did they do to you?" "Tell you tomorrow," he answered.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Seven pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a 3-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene and 'The Care of the Hair and Skin.'"
